On World Affairs

Kennedy, British Leader Expected To Confer Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan are expected to meet soon for a wide-ranging review of world affairs in a time of change.

Western strategists still are unsure of what lies beyond what Kennedy has termed a possibly "important turning point" in East-West relations. But they are agreed on the need to have the United States and Great Britain chart their course together.

Britain and the United States are both involved in major unresolved issues on the international scene—the India-China dispute, Berlin, disarmament and the Congo.

Both American and British sources agreed Friday on the likelihood of a Kennedy-Macmillan meeting in the near future, but said an exact time and place has not yet been worked out. London informants said Macmillan expects to cross the Atlantic shortly after Christmas.

At Hyannis Port, Mass., where Kennedy is spending a long Thanksgiving weekend, assistant presidential press secretary Andrew Hatcher would say only that "it is highly probable" that the two leaders will get together "some time soon."

Meetings between the American and British government heads are comparatively frequent. Kennedy and Macmillan have gotten together five times since Kennedy took office last year, the latest occasion being a visit by Macmillan to Washington last April.

The Washington consensus is that the President and the prime minister will be surveying a scene of great and unpredictable change in world events.

Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland, in a speech Friday night at Philadelphia, gave what aides described as a sum-up of U.S. government thinking on the current situation in the aftermath of the climactic U.S.-Soviet confrontation over Cuba. In words that tended to sound optimistic on future prospects, Cleveland assessed the international situation this way:

The Soviet Union has become a major world power but international communism, after having hit a peak in the immediate post-war years, has gone into decline. Externally, the Communist world has been rebuffed by Western firmness. Internally, it is so split that the idea of a solid Communist bloc has become an "antique Communist dream."

To Cleveland, who handles U.N. affairs, "the only sensible course of action for the Soviet Union" now is to seek "some live and let live formula."

U.S. and Russian negotiators are currently meeting in New York on carrying out remaining terms of the proposed Cuban settlement.

India Asks Cease-Fire Clarification

Chinese Diplomat Obtaining Data, Spokesman Says

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India has asked Red China to clarify several points of its offer to settle the undeclared Himalayan border war, the Foreign Ministry said today.

A spokesman said Foreign Secretary M. J. Desai summoned the Chinese charge d'affaires in New Delhi Friday and "put to him several points about China's cease-fire proposal which required clarification." He said the Chinese diplomat is "obtaining clarification from Peking."

The Foreign Ministry spokesman declined to say what the points were.

Red China ordered its troops in the disputed border areas to cease fire last Wednesday. It promised to pull its troops back on Dec. 1 to a point 12½ miles behind what it described as the line of actual control.

The Indian spokesman said the Chinese proposals are still under consideration, although Prime Minister Nehru has indicated he would not accept the Chinese terms. By acceptance, the Indians would have to give up claim to 12,000 square miles of disputed territory in Ladakh on India's northwestern border with China.

Nehru has indicated he believes the border fighting will erupt again and that he wants Chinese troops off what he considers Indian soil.

The Indians were believed taking advantage of the Chinese cease-fire to bolster their military strength.

U.S. and British military aid missions here continued their appraisals of India's long-range military needs.

Nehru again predicted a long struggle with Red China as the Himalayan fronts remained quiet for the third day under the cease-fire.

17 MET DEATH HERE. Wreckage of the United Air Lines Viscount prop-jet that crashed on a farm Friday at Ellicott City, Md., killing everyone aboard—13 passengers and four crew members. ### 40 Units In March

10,000 Welcome Santa In Parade

Approximately 10,000 persons lined the downtown streets Friday night to view the traditional parade welcoming Santa Claus and marking the opening of the Christmas season for the community.

The jolly old gentleman rode in an open convertible as there was no snow for his sleigh. Waving to children as he passed by, Santa marked the close of the parade.

THE SIDEWALKS were filled to near capacity along 5th and 6th Sts. by those who braved the chilling 40-degree temperature to view what sponsors termed a successful parade.

There were at least 40 units in the line of march, led by a giant 13-foot snowman. The snowman was erected by the Jaycees, who sponsored the parade in co-operation with the East Liverpool Merchants Association.

The lights on the holiday decorations spanning the streets and those on the 40-foot community tree in the Diamond were switched on at parade time.

Former City Clerk's Trial Set Monday

Embezzlement Case Jury To Be Seated For Roberta Smith

A Common Pleas Court jury is to be selected Monday at Lisbon for the trial of Miss Roberta C. Smith of Fairmont St., former clerk of the city water department indicted for embezzlement of $23,841 of water and sewer funds.

Miss Smith, 37, has been free under $1,500 bond since arraignment after the indictment was returned by the April Grand Jury on evidence in a state audit which covered the period between May 1959 to November 1961.

Ex-Mayor's Daughter Loses Life

Viscount Of United Airlines Plummets Into Maryland Field

Funeral services probably will be held Monday for Miss Barbara Lawrence, 15, daughter of Fred Lawrence of Princeton, N.J., former mayor of East Liverpool, who was among the 17 victims of the United Airlines Viscount plane crash Friday near Ellicott City, Md.

All aboard perished in the crash and fire of Flight 297, en route from Newark, N. J., to Atlanta, Ga., via Washington, D. C.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, Federal Aviation Agency, United and Airline Pilots Association representatives met today to organize their investigation.

The crash of the four-engine turbo-prop airliner occurred in bright sunshine about 10 miles southwest of Baltimore. Ed Slatery of the CAB said, "We are concerned because there was no weather connected with the crash."

Another piece in the puzzle was the report from the FAA that the Viscount's veteran pilot, Capt. Milton J. Balog, 39, apparently had no hint of approaching tragedy.

The FAA said radio communications with the plane as it prepared to land at Washington shortly after noon Friday were entirely routine. The FAA said Balog had acknowledged instructions only three minutes before the Viscount, capable of carrying 44 passengers, disappeared from the radar scope monitoring its approach.

Witnesses said the plane suddenly nosed sharply into wooded farmland owned by Clark Gaither in Howard County. The descent of the airplane was so steep that it cut only a small swath through the hardwood forest.

Joseph Fluet, chief of the accident investigation division of the CAB, who flew over the area in a helicopter, declined comment when asked about the possibility of sabotage.

Thomas Henkins, special agent in charge of the FBI office in Baltimore, said the FBI sent a disaster squad to help identify the victims and for no other purpose.

In Washington, the final messages between the plane and control tower were being prepared for intensive study by CAB experts.

Capt. Balog, the pilot, flew 35 combat missions as a B24 pilot in Europe during World War II. (Turn to PLANE, Page 9)

China Firms, IBOP Confer

Wage Discussions Open In Cleveland

Spokesmen for six chinaware plants and the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters opened negotiations Friday at Cleveland on a new working agreement to replace the present two-year contract, which expires Dec. 1.

The talks involve IBOP members employed by the Sterling China Co. and Wellsville China Co., both of Wellsville, Walker China Co. of Bedford, Mayer China Co. of Beaver Falls, Buffalo China, Inc., of Buffalo, N. Y., and Jackson China Co. of Falls Creek, Pa.

The IBOP signed a three-year contract Nov. 6 with the U.S. Potters Association covering employees of eight plants in the semi-vitreous dinnerware industry. Its principal provision calls for em-

In Youngstown

Gangland-Style Bombing Probed

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—FBI agents and state criminal investigators were heading for Youngstown today, brought by the gangland-style bombing that killed 60-year-old Charles (Cadillac Charlie) Cavallaro and his 11-year-old son, Thomas.

Another son, Charles Jr., 12, was injured seriously.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle indicated state authorities are interested in other things beyond the solution of Friday's bombing—the 82nd in the Youngstown area in a little more than 10 years.

The bombings, said DiSalle, are just "a symbol of a condition that has existed too long in the Youngstown area . . . a condition that should not be permitted to continue."

He said Youngstown Mayor Harry Savasten had asked state assistance in halting the long series of unsolved bombings and gangland-style killings. The mayor promised complete cooperation of local authorities, the governor said.

DiSalle ordered fire marshal's investigators and a team from the Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification to Youngstown.

Earlier, Police Chief William R. Golden sent a telegram to U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy asking federal aid in the case.

The Justice Department in Washington said "the full laboratory and identification facilities of the FBI are being made available to assist local officials."

The department spokesman added that "federal agencies are carrying out investigations of racketeering in the area and will continue to make every effort to help local authorities and the citizens of Youngstown stamp out the hoodlum element in their community."

He promised "prompt prosecution" if any evidence of federal law violation is uncovered. A federal law enacted last year controls transportation of explosives across state lines.

The man who touched off the death-dealing bomb when he went to start his 1956 model car Friday was not considered a big man in the underworld.

Cavallaro was involved in the numbers racket, police said. He listed himself variously as an auto salesman and a billiards parlor operator.

He had been fighting deportation to Italy since 1935. A series of legal maneuvers held off the Immigration Service more than 20 years, but a deportation order was issued finally six years ago. Cavallaro had been fighting that order in the courts.

He and his two sons got into the car shortly before noon to go for a ride. All three were in the front seat.

The powerful explosion that came when Cavallaro turned on the ignition rocked the North Side neighborhood, wrecked the car and leveled the two-car garage at Cavallaro's home.

Shakeup Hits Soviet Party Ruling Units

MOSCOW (AP) — A drastic shakeup of Soviet party and government organs today divided the Soviet Union's Communist world in two—city Communists and country Communists.

The object: to meet Premier Khrushchev's demands for more goods and more crops.

The Communist party's Central Committee, ending a week-long meeting in the Kremlin on Friday, ordered the sweeping measures to "correct serious shortcomings" in the economy.

A group of rising party leaders, of the generation just after Khrushchev's, emerged from the sessions as the men to make the program work.

The top-to-bottom reshuffling, one of the most thorough in Soviet history, aims also at leveling out differences between city workers and peasants.

Ever since the beginning of the revolution against the old Czarist regime, the workers who did most of the fighting have had the best of it.

By last year, the Soviet Union, once well above 80 per cent agricultural, had moved by a fraction of a per cent to the industrial side and had more city workers than farmers.

Under the new program a separate party agricultural organization split will extend from the Kremlin to the farthest outposts.

The aim is to permit those party members primarily concerned with farming to concentrate entirely in that field to get reluctant farmers to work harder and try to match European and American production.

Party members concerned with industry—and these are almost entirely in the cities—will occupy themselves with industrial and building affairs.

The reorganization struck some Western observers as a poor second choice forced upon the government and party leaders as an alternative to a much-needed capital investment program that has been made impossible by the demands of space rockets and national defense.

Two economic and production experts, Alexander P. Rudakov and V. I. Polyakov, were made members of the Central Committee and placed in charge of the two new bureaus dealing with industrial and agricultural management.

Rudakov, 52, who heads the Industry Bureau, is a graduate of the Leningrad Mining Institute and worked in the coal and iron fields of the Donetz Basin for several years before starting up the party ladder.

The Latin expression "non compos mentis" means mentally deficient.

Free Parking At Nights Will Open Monday

Metered parking will be free after 5 p. m. daily and on each Wednesday afternoon throughout the Christmas shopping season.

Safety - Service Director Robert Owen and Police Chief Americo J. Radeschi announced jointly today.

The goodwill gesture toward Yule shoppers will take effect Monday under a city ordinance that allows the director to make temporary changes in traffic and parking regulations for periods not exceeding 90 days.

The free night - time parking was recommended Tuesday night by the City Traffic Commission. Adoption of a plan to eliminate meter fees and ticketing on Wednesday resulted from a suggestion in an editorial in The Review.

Mayor Bert H. Goodballet said.

"There will be no enforcement of parking regulations after 5 p. m. on weekdays, effective Monday, and continuing through Christmas," the director said.

Owen explained he acted after consultation with Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper showed the safety - service director has the right to set up a rule providing the meter regulations will not be enforced in certain hours. There had been a question whether Owen would act or Council would be required to amend the meter ordinance.

Coupled with the announcement, the director and the chief asked merchants to request their clerks not to park the free business district parking spots.

The order was issued particularly to benefit shoppers, but if clerks move their cars into the spots it will defeat the whole purpose of the plan, they explained.

At the same time the mayor made a direct appeal to the clerks to co-operate in the goodwill gesture towards shoppers.

Stores have scheduled late hours on 10 nights during the Christmas shopping season. Four Wednesday afternoons also will be affected.

The city's meter ordinance calls for enforcement only on Thursday nights. That's the only night in the week most stores are open the year round. So, in effect, the city is "forgiving" meter penalties and fees only on the four Thursday nights remaining before Christmas, along with the four Wednesday afternoons.

In the past, it had been the practice to enforce meter regulations on Wednesday afternoons if stores were open. Normally, the stores are closed after 12 on Wednesdays and there is no enforcement.

Motorist Fined

LISBON — Archie R. Beaver, 38, of R.D. 2 was fined $10 and costs Friday by Mayor Dean Stockman for ignoring a stop light on the square. He was cited by the State Highway Patrol Thursday.

five months after William (Billie) Naples, 35, was killed in similar fashion.

Naples' late brother, S. Joseph (Sandy) Naples, 52, who had been considered a kingpin operator in Youngstown rackets, was gunned down from a passing automobile in 1960. Sandy's girl friend, Mary Ann Vranichich, 28, was killed with him.

Another rackets figure, James Vincent DeNiro was killed July 27, 1961, in another bombing. It was only a month earlier that shots from a passing car killed Mike Farah outside his home in Warren in neighboring Trumbull County, where he was reputed to be a rackets czar.

Trial

An employee of the department for almost 10 years, and chief clerk for six years, Miss Smith has been on leave of absence since Nov. 29, 1961 — the day after the alleged discrepancies in the accounts were detected.

The audit was undertaken by Robert L. Lippincott, a state examiner, who is expected to be a key witness for Prosecutor G. William Brokaw.

Atty. Frank Springer of East Palestine is counsel for Miss Smith.

The state examiner returned a finding against Miss Smith and her bonding company, the U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty Co., for the full amount of the fund shortages.

Miss Smith is charged with collecting money from customers but not depositing it to the city's credit.

Lines At Intersection

To warn motorists approaching the intersection of the new city freeway and Dresden Ave., street crews Friday painted double yellow lines extending along Dresden Ave. from a point south of the intersection to the north city limits.

As an additional warning to drivers, particularly those traveling at night, zigzag white lines were painted in each lane approaching the four-way stop. Safety - Service Director Robert Owen said.

One - way traffic was maintained while the white lines were painted.

Pamela Mason Sues

Actor For Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Pamela Mason, whose marriage to James Mason has lasted almost an eternity by Hollywood standards, is suing the British actor for divorce, accusing him of "habitual adultery."

Her complaint, filed Friday in Superior Court, alleges Mason has had illicit relations during the past three years with three women—"one in Malibu, one in the San Fernando Valley and one in Los Angeles." The women were identified only as "Jane Does."

Traffic Death Toll Mounts; 286 Claimed

Traffic	286
Fires	35
Miscellaneous	73
Total	394

By The Associated Press

Death on the nation's highways continued to mount today as the 102-hour Thanksgiving holiday entered its third day.

Traffic accidents involving more than one fatality increased the death toll.

There were no National Safety Council estimates for the holiday, which ends at midnight Sunday. A council spokesman said traffic is not as heavy on Thanksgiving as other holiday periods, although he said 480 persons would normally die in traffic accidents during a Thursday to Sunday span.

An Associated Press survey of accidental deaths for the 102-hour period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 7, to midnight Sunday, Nov. 11, showed 458 highway fatalities. The survey also showed 30 killed in fires and 113 deaths in miscellaneous deaths, an overall total of 602.

Last year 457 persons died on the highways during the Thanksgiving holiday. Fires claimed 40 lives and 105 persons died in miscellaneous accidents for a total of 602.

Two separate accidents in Texas killed five persons. Four University of Omaha students were killed when their car smashed into a Union Pacific freight train near Omaha.

In Howardsville, Mo., five persons, including four children, were killed in a fire. In Chicago, two infant brothers and the woman caring for them died when their apartment burned.

Missing Girl's Back But Boy Has Vanished

A 17-year-old girl has returned home but a 17-year-old city youth is missing, police said today.

Eva Ethel Pritchett, 734 St. Clair Ave., returned home late Friday afternoon, police were advised by the family. She had been missing since Wednesday morning.

Meanwhile, police were told by Mrs. Chester Payne of Fisher Ave. that her grandson, Edward Clutter, has been missing since noon Wednesday.

Her grandson is 6-foot, weighs 150, and has brown hair and blue eyes. He was wearing a blue sweater, dark blue pants, a light blue coat and white shoes, Mrs. Payne said.

U.N. Secretary Drops Plans Of Boycott Against Katanga

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —

—Hopeful of channeling Katanga's rich mining royalties into the Central Congo treasury, U.N. Acting Secretary-General U Thant is reported to have dropped plans for a trade boycott against the break-away province.

The secretary-general was said to have abandoned the idea of sanctions to force Katanga into line after learning that U.S. Under Secretary of State George C. McGhee had worked out a deal for Union Miniere to pay part of its $40 million a year revenue to Leopoldville.

Until now the huge European-owned mining company has handed over its copper and cobalt royalties and export duties to Katanga's President Moise Tshombe. Diplomatic sources said McGhee had arranged to divert these revenues after talks in Brussels and London last week. The company's major operations are in Katanga.

Thant set forth a plan last August to merge Katanga with the ed to the home of Clayton Stine, Squire Lytton said. Nalli was cited Sunday after his car hit some guard rails and rolled onto the porch of the Stine home.

Trash Cleanup Expected

Incinerator crews expected to complete collection of trash and garbage by mid-afternoon after being delayed slightly because of transmission trouble in one of the department's "packer" body trucks. The breakdown forced the department to use a smaller open-bed truck and increased the number of trips required, Supt. John Melvin said.

Promoted In France

Mrs. Frank Burbick of Lisbon has been admitted to Salem Central Clinic.

C. R. Baker of 7th Ave., La-Croft, was admitted to City Hospital Thursday for observation.

Ralph Pope of Midland was admitted Friday at Rochester General Hospital. Discharged were Frank Pedro Jr. and Mrs. Nora Wynn, both of Midland, Leslie Doughty of Industry and Charles Johnson of Hookstown.

Mrs. Mary Mattes of Main St., Wellsville, is under observation at City Hospital.

Steel Pioneer Dies

BELMONT, Vt. (AP) — John Bowditch Jr., 79, a pioneer in the development of fabricated steel, died Friday.

Congo under a federal constitution and place the central regime in control of its troops and finances.

Thant warned at the time that unless Tshombe went along with his plan, he would call on all United Nations members to stop buying Katangan copper and cobalt.

Tshombe accepted Thant's plan in principle, but has balked over details and held to his secession despite a series of U.N. deadlines.

The United States, Belgium and West Germany, all big purchasers of Katanga's metals, had indicated they would go along with a boycott as a last resort.

Britain opposed such economic pressure, contending that it would damage the economy of the rest of the Congo.

Thant apparently believes that if Union Miniere does switch its tax payments to Premier Cyrille Adoula's Central regime, Tshombe will abandon his stand against union with Leopoldville.

4 Suits Filed For $22,050

LISBON — Four suits totaling $22,050 for personal injuries and damages were filed in Common Pleas Court Friday on behalf of four young passengers involved in a 1961 auto accident near Salem.

The suits were filed against Mervin J. Vonada of Howard, Pa., for four passengers in a car operated by Donald L. Moore of Salem R.D. 3.

The plaintiffs claim Vonada made a turn in front of Moore's car on Route 62 at Barnett's Restaurant Jan. 13, 1961.

The plaintiffs are Ronald Freeman Schultz, a minor, filed by his mother, Mary Schultz of Leetonia who seeks $10,000; Jesse Fish, also a minor, filed by his father, Frank W. Fish, of Salem R.D. 1; $10,000; James R. Heim, a minor, by his father, Edwin H. Heim, of Leetonia, $1,030, and Richard Charles Pieren, a minor by his father, John W. Pieren, of Leetonia.

Navy Awards Flying Cross To 6 Pilots

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) —

The Navy has awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross to six Jacksonville area pilots for extraordinary achievement in low level flight over Cuba.

The fliers are members of a photographic squadron stationed at Cecil Field, near Jacksonville, who took part in the first low level runs over the island during the Cuban crisis.

The awards, made Nov. 13 in the name of the President by Rear Adm. Joseph M. Carson, commander of Fleet Air Jacksonville and naval air bases in the 6th Naval District, were not announced until Friday.

Those receiving the Flying Cross were:

Lt. Cmdr. James A. Kauflin, Jacksonville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony C. Kauflin, Dayton, Ohio; Lt. Cmdr. Tad T. Riley, Jacksonville, son of Mrs. Helen M. Riley of Pottstown, Pa.; Cmdr. William Ecker, Jacksonville, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Ecker of Omaha, Neb.

Lt. Gerald L. Coffee, Cecil Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coffee, Hanford, Calif.; Lt. Christopher B. Wilhelm Jr., Cecil Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher B. Wilhelm Sr., San Antonio, Tex.; and Lt. (j.g.) John J. Hewitt Jr., Cecil Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hewitt Sr., Blakely, Ga.

Motorist Jailed Following Chase

A motorist arrested about 12:30 a. m. today after a 20-block chase in Wellsville is being held in jail awaiting a hearing on at least two charges, and possibly more.

Police said the driver identified himself only as William McGinty. He could not offer an address and was not carrying a driver's license or auto registration card.

Officers said he has been charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and hit-skip. Further information will be obtained from him, officers commented.

A car driven by McGinty struck one driven by James Brock, 705 Washington St., Wellsville, at 5th and Main Sts. McGinty failed to stop and Brock gave chase.

The police cruiser was at 9th and Main Sts. and officers were notified by Brock of the accident. They took up the chase and halted McGinty at 25th St.

Firemen Start Annual Drive To Collect Toys

City firemen have launched their annual drive to collect and repair toys for distribution to underprivileged children at Christmas.

Firemen said persons desiring to donate useable toys may leave the articles at any of the four fire stations. They will be repaired and turned over to the city relief department for distribution.

They urged that the toys still be useable, explaining that some of the articles are in such poor condition they cannot be repaired and must be discarded.

Kennedy Plans Tour Of Military Bases

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy is planning a swift one-day trip Monday to military bases in Georgia and Florida, including the command post for the Cuba crisis alert the temporary White House announced here today.

Paar Reported Interviewing Nixon For Program On TV

was reported to be interviewing former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the Bahamas Friday for an NBC television program the New York Times reported.

"Mr. Paar is working on a show that would include a discussion of Mr. Nixon's future public life and of the comments made by Alger Hiss about Mr. Nixon on an American Broadcasting Co. program on Nov. 11," the newspaper said.

Nixon is vacationing with his family at Paradise Island, owned by Huntington Hartford, heir to the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co.

National Broadcasting Co. in New York said that Paar had gone to Nassau on a short vacation, but said it knew nothing of his plans.

After his defeat for governor of California Nov. 6, Nixon said he had no plans for the future in politics and, criticizing the press, said he would hold no future news conferences.

Hiss subsequently appeared on Edward K. Smith's ABC television show reviewing Nixon's public career and touched off a storm of controversy. Nixon, as a congressman, had played a key role in the exposure of Communist activity within the U.S. government which led to Hiss' conviction for perjury.

Yule Tree Blown Down By Winds In East End Lot

The heavy winds Friday night blew down a large Christmas tree erected by the merchants and industries of East End in the parking lot of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association.

The 30-foot tree was set up yesterday by Mike Pusateri and the Central Neon Sign Co.

It will be put back into place today and probably will be decorated by the first of the week. The First Federal is installing an outside public address system and any choir group from a church or any organization may use the tree in singing carols.

James Allison of the bank said any group interested should contact him.

Santa Claus is expected to visit the children of East End at the tree Saturday, Dec. 22.

Councilmen Explain Position On Warrants

Chester Councilman Wayne Hutton said he and Councilman Donald Chaney are willing to let the courts decide on the legality of search warrants "whenever they are served on Chester American Legion Post 121 and Chester VFW Post 6450."

Both councilmen still have the warrants. At the meeting of Council Wednesday night, Mayor Harry Abrams requested return of the warrants back, explaining he did not believe they were legal. They had been issued by the mayor.

Councilmen got the warrants last Sunday night after they visited the posts and allegedly saw slot machines. When police returned, the posts were closed.

Lisbon Council Set

LISBON — Council will meet Monday night at 7:30 for final reading of an ordinance for pay raises for water department and cemetery employees, according to Mayor Dean Stockman.

$125,000 Loss Set In Steubenville Fire

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed two downtown businesses Friday, with damage estimated by firemen at $125,000.

Two firemen suffered minor injuries fighting the blaze in the three-story brick building housing Kiddings Auto Store and Hausfeld's Electronic firm.

All available firemen, including those off duty, participated in the two-hour battle to bring the blaze under control. A double amputee living in an apartment above the stores was rescued by firemen.

The fire is believed to have started in Kiddings' basement. The store was filled with anti-freeze, oil, auto accessories and Christmas toys.

Announces With Pleasure His Continuing The Practice Of The Late</

There's Nothing To Negotiate

It is incredible to most of us that our government should appear to be dickering over a settlement of the Cuban crisis.

The crisis exploded when the Kennedy administration admitted what many others had known to be true for weeks and what nearly everybody believed to be likely — that the Soviet Union was turning Cuba into a military base for communist expansion in the New World.

This was intolerable.

There was nothing to dick about.

The United States had no choice but to demand withdrawal of Soviet weapons from Cuba and to make it plain to Moscow that refusal would mean war.

There was nothing to negotiate, though to everybody's astonishment President Kennedy did say he had promised Premier Khrushchev the United States never would invade Cuba if Russia withdrew its weapons for attacking the United States.

THERE is nothing to negotiate now. But again to everybody's astonishment the Kennedy administration seems to be swapping favors again.

This is like telling a trespasser trampling the shrubbery that if he will spare the azaleas his reward will be a chance to argue about the rhododendrons.

The Guantanamo base is the rhododendrons.

The Soviet Union — and Cuba — would like to dick about Guantanamo. They would like to fool the United States into a dialectical dispute over its base on the island of Cuba.

If they could open this subject, they would have a wedge for opening the subject of this country's right to maintain bases anywhere else on the earth. That would be a stroke of Marxist genius.

RESISTING it calls for a stroke of Yankee genius.

There used to be such a thing. It was a trademark of the American way of doing things.

Take the time, for instance, when the 101st Airborne Division was trapped at Bastogne and Adolf Hitler's generals thought they had a chance to recoup their fading prestige by demanding surrender.

But to the American officer on the scene, Brig. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe, the situation shaped up like a chance to spit in the Nazi eye. "Nuts," he replied, and from that moment on, Americans felt better.

Our government should not be dickering with anybody over Cuba — not the Soviet Union, not the United Nations, not Cuba — not anybody.

It isn't a dickering situation. Men of good reason and good will do not dick with trespassers, marauders, mad dogs, or Communist conspirators itching for a foothold in the New World.

Oldest Of The Old Fuels

Remembering how it has been in the past, many peers into the future guess that the only thing which will be remembered about the 20th century is the release of nuclear energy.

Everything else in this century will be obscure as current events when Englishmen learned how to subdue their enemies with the long bow, or Thomas E. Edison and his contemporaries learned to harness their laboratory phenomenon—electricity.

This is the background for the Atomic Energy Commission's special report on the future of the atomic power program. It says in essence that the government should push as hard as it can to speed up development of a "breeder reactor" that would release atomic energy and simultaneously replace the fissionable material used in the approach to perpetual motion.

It should do this because abundant energy available where needed would then be assured for all time to come, to replace the energy now obtained by burning coal and oil.

Though it is not referred to in the AEC report, an equally important reason for pushing the program is to make energy available where electricity generated by burning coal and oil is unobtainable. Like the fresh-water program being pushed by the Department of Commerce, a practical way to give men electrical energy would transform civilization.

If it were to be a rule that the AEC's constructive program had to be maintained at half the rate of spending for nuclear destruction, men might yet learn to think of atomic energy as an actual blessing instead of a potential curse.

So far, they have been encouraged to think only of its ability to make the earth uninhabitable—and uninhabited.

The 'Army's' Appeal

The Salvation Army has launched its annual Christmas appeal to help bring the joys of Christmas to those who are less fortunate than their neighbors.

Contributions at the "red kettles" or through the mail will brighten the holiday season for underprivileged children, for the aged, for servicemen, for the chronically ill, for the imprisoned and for many others who otherwise might be forgotten.

Remember "others" when you see the Army's kettles. It is truly "more blessed to give than to receive."

Military Scale Brain-Washing

It was of no importance one way or the other what the government of India decided to do about Red China's cease-fire offer.

The impact of the offer on Indian troops was the thing that mattered.

Poorly equipped, badly situated, demoralized by years of betrayal under the bad leadership of a defense minister who couldn't have been much more hurtful to them if he had been working for Peiping instead of New Delhi, India's fighting men are in no mood to be cut up in a hopeless border action.

The possibility held out to them in the Chinese cease-fire offer that the action could be suspended by a political decision should shatter the last remnant of their morale.

This is a classic move in brain-washing—this time on a military scale.

The brain-washed victim is made to feel his helplessness in the presence of superior force. He is reminded in many unpleasant ways of the horrible things that can be done to him if he insists on asserting himself.

It is made plain that the ultimate consequence of self-assertion will be death. Then, when he is beginning to drown in his own despair, he is permitted to see a glimmer of hope. All he needs to do to save himself is to cooperate with the source of his persecution.

This was the siren song of Tokyo Rose and Axis Sally. This has been the propaganda pitch in wartime ever since the Trojans tried to talk the Greeks out of the siege of Troy—and the Greeks tried to talk the Trojans out of their stronghold.

Give up and everything will be wonderful. Otherwise . . .

Cotton Corners

Dear Nephew: I want to tell a fable.

The fable is about a dumb turkey named Patsy that all of a sudden got smart.

Patsy was a notable specimen because it had been his good fortune as a turkey to go to a land of milk and honey. When he was not hitting the milk he was gobbling the honey. And big . . .

There never was a bigger turkey than Patsy.

He used to look at himself in the mirror and say, "Gee." Then he would look again and say, "Gee." This eventually was made into a song for Maurice Chevalier.

Maurice Chevalier was not the only one who had his eye on Patsy, who had nothing to fear from exceptional people like Maurice.

In all sincerity, though, which was the way Patsy was — full of sincerity, good will, truth and stuff — it never occurred to this dumb bird that people like Maurice were exceptional until the discussion began.

The discussion was about Patsy.

The way it started, a fellow named Joe kept talking about how he would kill Patsy. This caused alarm because Joe sounded ominously unanimous.

Things looked better when someone named Tito seemed to be disagreeing with Joe. The way Patsy felt about this if Joe and Tito were disagreeing his chances were improving by leaps and bounds.

From time to time other people disagreed with Joe too.

The big payoff came when Joe got knocked off. This cheered Patsy to his feather tips because those who had knocked off Joe began to knock off one another. He could look forward to becoming an old bird, he said. Joe's gone.

Finally, on joy of joy, it began to appear that all the Patsy haters were arguing with one another so much they had no time left for Patsy.

By Truman Twill

The Abnians snarled at the Russians, who snarled at the Yugoslavs, who snarled at the Bulgarians. The Chinese snarled at everybody — but Patsy began to notice something.

They never agreed about him.

They were unanimous on Patsy. He had to go.

They agreed that he was a prime morsel. Their salivary glands squirted when they glanced his way.

All they were disagreeing about was whether it would be best to cut off his head with a hatchet, snap it off with a twist of the wrist, let it stay on and bleed him to death with a stab in his gullet or to eat big Patsy alive.

At this point, big Patsy quit feeling good about disagreements among people who did not intend to let him live. He couldn't win.

He told himself it was like a condemned man volunteering to judge a debate over whether he should be sent to the gallows or the guillotine. Never Patsy promised himself, would he be that foolish. That's how Patsy quit being a dumb turkey.

That is the end of my fable.

Say hello to the folks for your aunt and me.

COTTON CORNERS      UNCLE GEORGE

The Bible does not say, as is so often misquoted, that money is the root of all evil. It says that the love of money is the root of all evil, which is an entirely different thing. According to I Timothy 6:10, "For the love of money is the root of all evil; which, while some coveted after, they have erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows."

A Dictatorial Order From The White House

DAVID LAWRENCE

America today has a virtual dictatorship in the White House. "By one stroke of the pen," President Kennedy has just put into effect a "law" of his own to ban discrimination in housing.

Congress six times has refused to pass such a law, and Sen. Sparkman, D - Ala., warned on Oct. 9 that such an executive order as has now been issued would be unconstitutional because an executive order cannot supersede a plainly expressed wish of Congress. Mr. Sparkman told the senate at the time: "If there is a prevalent national desire to kill our federal housing programs, this would be a way to do it."

The President's action is not authorized under any previous law of Congress or by any provision in the Constitution. Yet, under the new order, citizens now will be subject to "such civil or criminal action" as the attorney general "may deem appropriate" if they do not conform to the rules and regulations to be issued by "each executive department and agency subject to this order."

THE ORDER itself prohibits discrimination because of "race, color, creed or national origin in the sale, leasing, rental or other disposition" of certain residential properties and related facilities—through privately owned. The discrimination is prohibited if federal funds have been involved in the purchase, construction or operation of any of these properties.

This applies also to the insuring or guaranteeing of loans by the federal government. Nearly half of the houses and apartment projects built nowadays are financed by FHA or Veterans Administration loans. So the construction industry may soon feel a serious impact from this order.

Today the "law" concerns only mortgage money obtained under programs insured or guaranteed by federal agencies, but tomorrow the same "authority" may be invoked to bar a citizen from getting a mortgage loan at a bank or at a savings and loan institution unless he agrees to give up his inalienable right to dispose of his property to whom he pleases or to lease it to persons of his own choosing.

The unfairness of racial discrimination is widely recognized but the remedy does not lie in an unconstitutional or illegal use of executive power. There are lots of difficult problems that face the executive, but solutions will never be found in "an audacious usurpation of power," as Sen. Stennis, D-Miss., calls the new executive order. Sen. Robertson, D-Va., characterizes it as "absolutely unconstitutional" and as having been issued for reasons of "political expediency." Sen. Jacob Javits, R-NY, applauds it, as do others in Congress who believe "the end justifies the means."

THE PHRASE "by one stroke of the pen" was frequently used by Mr. Kennedy in the presidential campaign of 1960 when he criticized President Eisenhower for failing to issue the same kind of executive order that now has been promulgated.

Mr. Kennedy evidently feels he has the right to sign such an order discrimination in any private project that receives a federal loan or federal assistance of any kind. Does it also become a president's privilege to specify how many employees of each race or religion or color or national origin shall work in a defense plant, or how many pupils in those categories shall attend private schools that happen to have mortgages directly or indirectly financed by banks or private institutions which are under federal supervision — as most of them happen to be?

The new executive order doesn't cite a single federal statute as legal authority for the action taken. It mentions instead such broad phrases as "the public policy of the United States as manifested in its Constitution and laws."

The President's order also says that the executive branch of the government has the "obligation and duty to assure that those laws are fairly administered and that benefits thereunder are made available to all Americans without regard to their race, color, creed, or national origin."

Once the federal government has any connection, however remote, with a loan to a contractor or prospective owner of a house, does the fact that such a loan has been made give the executive branch of the government authority for all time thereafter to regulate the sales and leases made by tenants who may become owners of the property?

When the federal government guarantees or insures a loan, does it have the right to coerce contractors and citizens generally to do its bidding — assuming that the terms of the loan have been met by the payment specified?

If the federal government now makes a loan to a college, moreover, does this give the president the right to issue executive orders stating how the educational institution — public or private —shall be operated and what proportion of students shall be from each race or religious group?

'You'll Just HAVE To Slow Down. Your Blood Pressure's In An Upper Bracket, Too'

They Cheered Loud And Long For Lyndon

By VICTOR RIESEL

Lyndon Baines Johnson has flown this globe over. But never was he further from Johnson City, Tex., than he was last Monday, Nov. 19. That was the day he was at the New York Waldorf Astoria. That was the day he cracked through the hard-crusted antipathy for the South on the part of militant labor chiefs, politically active liberals and leaders of the country's major Negro organizations—the NAACP and the Urban League.

Waldorf at midday. Soon Ted Kheel came to his suite with the electrical brotherhood's Harry Van Arsdale, creator of America's first five-hour day.

DURING THE LAST campaign Mr. Van Arsdale backed Nelson Rockefeller for governor. It will not be too long now before the labor leader must choose between supporting the Kennedy-Johnson ticket and one which insiders predict will be topped by Mr. Rockefeller.

Where Van Arsdale, leader of the 1,000,000-member Central Labor Council in this city, and his colleagues go in '64 will be pivotal in this pivotal state in the final countdown.

After a friendly chat behind those "closed doors," they went down to the fourth-floor Jansen Suite. This session, too, was private—but bigger. Ted Kheel had made a few calls, saying, in effect, come meet Lyndon Johnson. Almost 100 of the city's most influential labor chiefs came.

"This is an off-the-record meeting," Kheel told the group, "and the vice president. He's here for a social visit. But he'll discuss any issue you want. . . ."

Van Arsdale raised the issue of an increasing minimum wage. Johnson took this one neatly. Back in '38, he recounted, there were three Texas congressmen who voted for the first minimum wage of 25 cents an hour. Only one was reelected—himself.

There were cheers. A Negro leader of a most militant union spoke of recent Negro drives. Mr. Johnson replied sympathetically.

The vice president said we can not exist long in a world half starved. He said he and the administration are trying to do something about it. He added that if he had his life to live over again he would have dedicated it directly to the task of aiding the people.

His listeners crowded around. They were from Mike Quill's Transit Workers; Dave Dubinsky's Ladies' Garments Workers; Bill Pollock's Textile Workers. Teamsters were there, too. The non-Hoffa men.

At the end of an hour, Lyndon Baines Johnson had made it. They were for him. Thus it went at still another private reception where many crowded in to be photographed with him. And then finally at the famed banquet hall, every inch of it known to the audience, veterans of a thousand such gatherings.

In that grand ballroom they had cheered many all the way from New Deal days. But seldom had these massed labor officials and leaders of the different racial communities cheered as enthusiastically as they did for their new friend and ally.

AT HIS SIDE was a good looking, self-effacing New York lawyer, Ted Kheel.

Officially the vice president was in town as the featured speaker at the annual Equal Opportunity Day dinner of the National Urban League. Awards went to A. Philip Randolph, sonorous-voiced dean of Negro leaders, head of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and to Thomas J. Watson Jr., head of the International Business Machines Corp. Mr. Watson is an intimate of Bob and Jack Kennedy.

Mr. Johnson has run into neutral crowds before. But few have been as neutral, privately, as the men he met that day. Their sophistication matches their cynicism, which matches their influence. And many of them have made presidents—or broken presidential aspirants—for decades.

Lyndon Johnson arrived at the

There were cheers. A Negro leader of a most militant union spoke of recent Negro drives. Mr. Johnson replied sympathetically.

My Fellow Citizens: This is a short discourse on you and your taxes. It is addressed to all Americans of voting age.

Almost half of you did not take the trouble to vote for your representatives in Congress at the recent election. Therefore, although your cries for lower taxes are piercing and piteous, you don't deserve any relief. Of those of you voted, one half chose to return the members of the present Congress to office, most of whom had voted to tax you for innumerable fool proposals to spend our money. So you, too, don't deserve any tax relief.

Please don't delude yourselves into believing that the politicians whom you have elected, including the chief magistrate whom you elected two years ago, have failed to note that you have not cared much about your taxes, despite your weeping and wailing.

ALSO, PLEASE don't believe them when they say that next year you are going to get a break. You won't get it, because you really haven't cared enough about it to elect people who will give it to you.

I realize that these harsh comments are not going to make me popular with most of you. That gives me no concern at all. For over the years in these essays I have said so many unpopular things that it is a wonder I have not been thrown out of your newspaper. But people are still printing what I write and I am getting paid for it.

I am eating three times a day, have a roof over my head, and have a little laid by. The latter, however, will be worth only half of what it is now if you keep voting or nonvoting as you do. It will be quite a race between my savings and my amimate being.

Here are some more unpleasant facts to read, if indeed you have read this far.

This year about 100 million Americans will file individual income tax returns, about the same number as those who have the legal privilege of voting. These will account for about 70 million dependents. We individual income taxpayers will be bitten for about $49 billion. Corporations will pay about $23 billion more.

Those corporations must add that sum to the price of everything you buy. So you will be paying that, too. And you will pay an additional $10 billion in excise taxes.

Then there are, in addition and outside the regular President's budget, $3.4 billion in excise taxes for the highway program. Those who use gasoline will pay that also.

FINALLY, most of you will pay $15.4 million in employment taxes for the Social Security program. And this should remind you that when you get some of it back in the future, the dollars will be worth about half of what they are worth now. Because all this income will not satisfy the appetite of the administration and Congress for money. They will run a deficit, which means inflation.

To make matters still more unpleasant for all of us, our tax system falls more heavily on some than on others. Anybody can tell you that many individuals —rich, poor, and middle-income people — are not carrying their share of the tax pack. Some must work while some will shrink.

This tax pack on our collective back hurts some places so much as to cause painful soreness. And so there are heart-breaking cries for readjustment. Complete revision is long overdue.

What has your Congress done about this unfair distribution of the load?

In the late 1940s there were four revenue acts passed by Congress reducing taxes. But most of those abolished wartime levies which were no longer needed, even by a government which never seems to get enough.

THE HOUSE Committee on Ways and Means (which, incidentally, is a very conscientious and hard-working committee) worked two years to create a fine tax revision measure. The House passed it and the Senate rejected it. Then came the Korean War and taxes were raised again.

Finally, in 1954, we had a Congress which gave us a big break and reduced taxes by $7.4 billion. But in the election that year you, the voters, turned on that Congress as if it were made of thieves and pottroons. Out it went. And since then, four successive Congresses have not had the nerve to do what the 1954 Congress was punished for.

EXECUTIVE ORDERS heretofore have been directly related to a specific statute and have usually been regarded as a means of amplifying a provision but not as adding any new law or new authority which has not been explicitly set forth in the statute itself.

The Constitution says the president "shall faithfully execute the laws" but the president, merely by citing the "public interest," cannot issue his own laws or regulations governing the conduct of the citizen.

Congress could, of course, nullify the effects of the executive order by a specific statute. It is, incidentally, assumed here that the President purposely delayed the issuance of the order until after the adjournment of the recent session of Congress.

If the latest executive order is not withdrawn, it could mean that America has a government which is no longer based on the words of the Constitution but on the political whims of the man who happens to occupy the White House.

West Virginia Lists 12 Dead In Accidents

4,000 Watch Parade

The long Thanksgiving weekend began to take on grim overtones in West Virginia today, as the number of accidental deaths mounted to 12 — exactly twice the toll for the entire holiday period last year.

With tabulation to continue until midnight Sunday, 11 traffic deaths already have been reported in the state. Another death resulted when a man was struck by a train.

Last year's Thanksgiving weekend resulted in six accidental deaths.

Today, West Virginia's 1962 highway death toll stands at 384. A year today, 328 persons had died on the state's roads.

Three of the accidents reported thus far each resulted in two deaths. Four pedestrians were killed. The death count for the 102-hour holiday began Wednesday at 6 p.m. EST.

The victims:

John R. Hummel, 19, of Moundsville, killed late last night when the car he was driving struck three trees near the Ohio-Marshall County line in Ohio County. He died in an ambulance en route to a hospital. Two others, Don J. Kramer and Larry Walton, both of Wheeling, were reported seriously hurt.

Donald Ray Crank, 18, of West Dunbar, killed yesterday when he was struck by a car as he started to cross W. Va. 25 near Dunbar after leaving a bus.

Gust F. Kostantinides, 47, of Logan, killed yesterday when struck by a Chesapeake & Ohio Railway coal train as he walked in the northern part of Logan.

Miss Nancy Ellen Jones, 19, of Roderfield, McDowell County, killed yesterday when the car in which she was riding left U.S. 52 and rammed a tree near Iaeger.

John D. Caniford, 19, and Irvin A. Turpin, 37, both of near Martinsburg, killed yesterday in the head-on collision of their cars near Martinsburg. Each was alone in his car.

Larry D. McDaniel, 16, and Hubert H. Hebb, 19, both of Arden, Barbour County, killed Thursday night when a car driven by McDaniel left U.S. 119 north of Philippi and overturned.

William M. Davis, 28, and his wife Violet, 20, of McLean, Va., killed Thursday when their car rammed the rear of a milk truck near Gap Mills, Monroe County. They were en route to visit in Anawalt, McDowell County, their former home.

Wood Burgess, 82, of Richlands, near Lewisburg, struck and killed by a car yesterday as he walked along U.S. 60 near his home.

Mrs. Effie Conrad, 65, of Huntington, struck and killed by a car as she crossed a street in Huntington Wednesday night.

Hancock Boy, 11, Receives Scalds

A boy scalded by hot coffee Friday was admitted to City Hospital where two other children hurt in falls and a man injured at work were treated.

Arthur Harmon, 11, son of Omar Harmon of New Cumberland R. D. 1, was in "fairly good" condition today with second degree scalds of the abdomen suffered when he spilled the coffee on himself.

Edward Cronin, 42, 61-E, of Midland Heights, Midland, suffered a fractured large right toe when a piece of slag fell on him while working on a construction job.

Todd Lemley, 4, son of Mrs. Asa Lemley of Chester R. D. 1, suffered a laceration of the scalp when he fell against a door while playing.

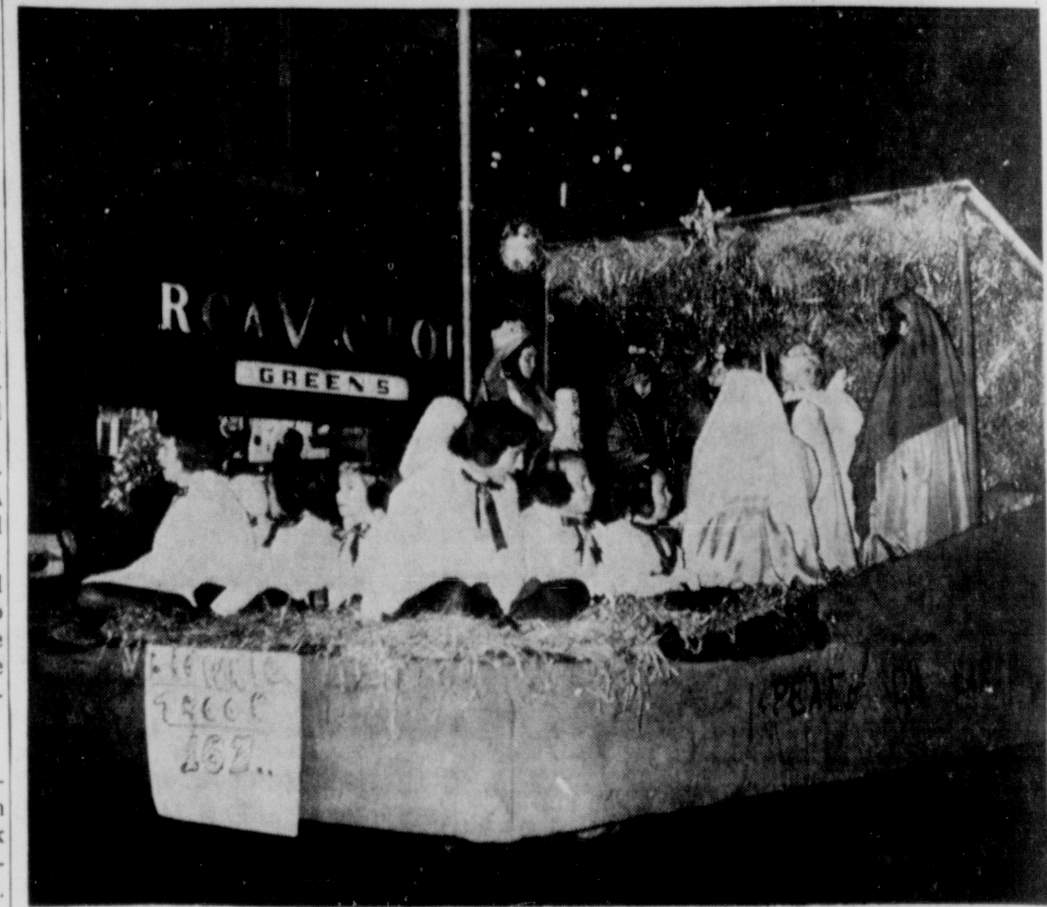

Frank Boso, 22-month-old son of Raymond Boso of M. C. Route 22, suffered contusions of the left forehead and nose when he fell down four basement steps Friday evening.

Police Hold Woman In Fatal Stabbing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — George James Bell, 35, of Columbus was found dying on a near-downtown street Friday night. Police said he had been stabbed.

Arrested for investigation of homicide was Ola Mae Smith. Bell was lying cross the street from her home. He was dead on arrival at University Hospital.

Record Crowd At Midland

An estimated 4,000 persons viewed Midland's annual Christmas parade Friday night — the largest crowd over the years, according to Howard Nophsker, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Christmas activities committee.

This Christmas scene won first place in the float division for Brownie Troop 167.

About 1,150 treats were handed out to youngsters at the fire station where they were greeted by Santa. There were about 16 parade units of which 12 were announced as winners of prizes totaling $100.

Other winners were St. George Junior Tamburizians, second;

Busi-C's, third, in floats; Ronnie Boston, first, Anne Rochelle, second and Dick Sanford, third, in dance studios.

Sons of Legion, first, Rainbow Girls, second, and Girl Scout Troop 232, third, in marching units, and Kirk Patrick, a decorated bike, first, Hazel Dye, decorated wagon, second, and Girl Scout Troop 267, third, in novelties.

Winners were announced by Paul McGeehan. It was the largest number of units to date for the annual parade.

American Legion Post 481 color guard and the Midland Lincoln High School band participated. Santa and Tinker Bell, who turned on the Chamber's new Christmas street decorations, rode a fire truck.

Several Midland merchants, who have been in business the longest, rode in three antique autos of George Cindrich.

Midland police, firemen and Civil Defense auxiliary police assisted with the parade, along with Chamber members.

Midland stores, open to 9 last night, will be open until 9 tonight. Special Christmas season store hours of 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. will begin Saturday, Dec. 1, for some stores, and on Saturday, Dec. 8 until Dec. 22 for the remainder. They will close at 6 p.m. on Dec. 24.

Woman's Death Ruled By Police As Accidental

CLEVELAND (AP)—The death of an attractive housewife whose partially clad body was found in Lake Erie apparently was accidental, Bay Village police say.

They came to that conclusion Friday after finding a torn flannel shirt and a skid mark down a steep cliff overlooking the lake.

The body of Mrs. Jaylene Nobes, 43, was found Thursday near the beach at the foot of the 65-foot cliff behind the Nobes home.

Coroner Samuel Gerber said Mrs. Nobes had drowned, but withheld an official ruling pending completion of the police investigation. He said she also suffered a skull fracture and broken wrist in falling down the cliff.

"All the evidence we have so far indicates she accidentally fell while planting narcissus bulbs," Police Lt. Fred Drenkhan said.

Mrs. Nobes' husband, Charles, identified a flannel shirt as one of his own which his wife wore while gardening. He had reported his wife missing at 1:30 a.m. Thursday, an hour after he returned from Bryan, Ohio.

Coroner's Ruling Due

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Acting Coroner Walter Corey was expected to rule today on the cause of death of Simon Soeder, 52, of Cleveland, whose body was found Friday in a wooded area in Thompson Twp. Soeder had been missing since early October.

Sales Taxes Show Gains

Although collections for the week ending Nov. 17 lagged behind the amount received for a corresponding period in 1961, collections of prepaid sales tax receipts, advance payments and sales taxes on motor vehicles since July 1 are running well ahead of the collections in the same period last year in Columbiana County.

Collections for the week ending Nov. 17 totaled $21,161, contrasted to $35,750 for the same week last year, but collections since the start of the fiscal year have reached $655,614 compared to $619,456 for the same period last year, State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson said today at Columbus.

The amount received from sales taxes on the sale of motor vehicles totaled $12,607, down only slightly from $12,738 for the same 1961 week. It brought the total since July 1 to $232,150, well ahead of the $189,016 received in the corresponding period last year.

However, collections of prepaid tax receipts and advance payments totaled only $8,554, down more than 35 per cent from the $23,011 received in the same week last year. Total collections so far are $423,469, a decrease from the $430,440 received in the same period last year.

Off-Duty Lima Fireman Called To Battle Fires

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—All off-duty Lima firemen were called back to work early today as the result of two widely separated fires.

No injuries were reported. The first fire, at a junkyard near downtown, did an estimated $75,000 damage when it destroyed three buildings on the property.

When firemen arrived, one of the buildings—a 200-foot-long sheet metal storage shed—was almost completely gone.

Gusts of wind carried sparks and burning debris from the shed to two frame houses on the property. The houses, used to store rags, paper and other junk, also were gutted.

As firemen fought the blaze at the H. Bloom & Co., another fire was reported at the city dump.

Available firemen sent to the dump feared the wind might carry sparks to nearby houses, so a general alarm was sounded calling all firemen back to duty to act as relief men and help lay hose to fight the dump fire.

Jury Awards $7,500 In Malpractice Case

A Common Pleas Court jury at Lisbon Friday night at 9 awarded $7,500 to a Wellsville man who sued an East Liverpool physician, charging malpractice.

Bernard Ference, 1829 1/2 Clark Ave., had asked $15,000, from Dr. Roy C. Costello, claiming a cast placed on his broken leg was too tight, causing osteomyelitis. He had injured the leg at work at the Sterling China Co. Jan. 23, 1960.

The jury deliberated five hours and 40 minutes after receiving the case yesterday afternoon. The trial began Nov. 13 before Judge Raymond S. Buzzard. The jury heard testimony for five days and four hours of closing arguments, followed by the charge by Judge Buzzard.

Most Learning Outside Classes, Teachers Told

By G. K. HODENFIELD

AP Education Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — High school English teachers were asked today to face up to the fact that "in our cities, most learning occurs outside the classroom."

William D. Boutwell told a convention meeting of the National Council of Teachers of English:

"The sheer quantity of information conveyed by the press, magazines, films, television and radio far exceeds the quantity of information conveyed by school instruction and texts.

"This challenge has destroyed the monopoly of the book as a teaching aid and cracked the very walls of the classroom."

Boutwell was reviewing a new book, "Using Mass Media in the Schools," which the council sponsored and of which he was editor.

He told the English teachers they have a deep responsibility for what he called "adventuring into mass media." He cited a recent report that the average American is exposed every day to at least 1,500 invitations to buy something or do something.

He also said that "television films, and even literature will never rise higher than the standards set for them by audiences. And who is in the most strategic spot to create discriminating audiences? Teachers, of course."

"It is in your hands to fashion the audiences that will compel mass media to rise to ever higher standards of performance."

Boutwell also cited research by Prof. Wilbur Schramm of Stanford University, who found that of children who reach the seventh grade, 44 per cent have become newspaper readers, 73 per cent have become regular book readers, 70 per cent attend movies, 61 per cent read comics, 53 per cent read magazines and listen to the radio and 94 per cent are inveterate viewers of television.

200 Women Mental Patients Herded To Safety In Blaze

BARBOURSVILLE, W. Va. (AP) — A wind-whipped fire ravaged the top floor of the women's hall at Barbourville State Hospital early today after 200 women mental patients were herded to safety.

A hospital spokesman said all patients had been accounted for.

Twice after the flames were believed under control they broke out again under brisk winds. Firefighters from Huntington, 5 miles away, and Barbourville finally established control within two hours.

Flames first were spotted on the roof of the brick building and quickly spread to the third floor of the three-story structure. The roof had been undergoing resurfacing the past several days.

In addition to housing the women in the building — one of three making up the institution — also contained the dining hall and kitchen. All the hospital's grocery supplies were in the building.

The top floor was gutted, the bottom floors escaped major damage. Glow from the flames could be seen some 2 miles away.

The women's dormitory, formerly Rosa Harvey Hall, was part of Morris Harvel College before it moved to Charleston in 1941. The institution also has 200 men patients.

Patients of all ages are treated at the hospital, which opened its doors officially in January 1942 with 270 persons.

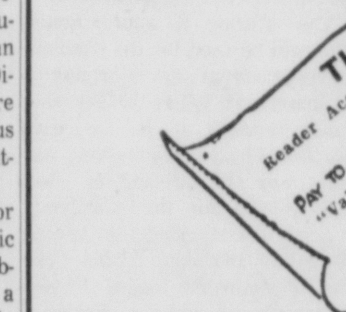

The women patients were rushed through a connecting corridor to the administration building, located between the men's and women's dormitories.

Speeder Forfeits

LISBON — Donald M. Moore, 27, of Alliance, forfeited a $15 appearance bond Friday in County Judge James L. MacDonald's court on a State Highway Patrol charge of speeding.

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Robert J. Bulkley Jr., 51, a public relations advisor for Du Pont Co. and son of Robert J. Bulkley, U.S. senator from Ohio, died Friday.

Following the service, the congregation will assemble in the Bethlehem Room for coffee and a chat with the Harrimans.

Mrs. Jessie Hall Kaufman, church organist, will accompany Mrs. Harriman at the organ in four numbers, "Sarabande and Bourree" from "Sixth French Suite" (Bach); "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" (Bach); "Invocation" (Holy); and "Aria in Classic Style" (Handel-Grandjany).

Mrs. Kaufman and Harriman, at the trombone, will accompany Mrs. Harriman in the postlude, "Now Thank We All Our God" (Karg-Elert). The gradual, "Fair-est Lord Jesus" (Silesian folk song), will be played by Mrs. Harriman.

The offertory anthem, will be sung by the Canticle Choir under the direction of Donald F. Allcorn.

The Bethlehem Choir, under the direction of Miss Helen Hannahs, will present the offertory at the 9 a.m. service.

Offering Totals $478

1,085 Attend District's Thanksgiving Services

An offering of over $478 was received at union Thanksgiving services of East Liverpool area churches and approximately 1,085 attended the programs Wednesday and Thursday.

The Calvary Methodist Church was host for the downtown services Thursday morning with about 350 present. It was sponsored by the East Liverpool Ministerial Association.

The offering of approximately $158 will be used for the chaplaincy program at City Hospital.

There were 150 at the East End union services at the Second Baptist Church Wednesday evening and the offering of about $60 will be for the chaplaincy.

Some 150 attended the services Thursday morning at the Chester Westminster United Presbyterian Church and the offering of about $90 will be for special projects of the Chester Ministerial Association, including support of the chaplain.

The Newell community service was held at the First Church of the Nazarene Wednesday evening with about 60 attending. The offering of $25 will be used for charitable needs of the community.

About 150 attended the union service at the Wellsville First Christian Church Thursday morning. Part of the offering of $113.57 will be used for the chaplaincy.

At Midland, the Methodist and Presbyterian congregations gathered at the Methodist for union service Wednesday evening. The offering of $32 will be turned over to the Passavant Memorial Home for Epileptics in Rochester.

About 200 attended the Thanksgiving service at the East Liverpool First United Presbyterian Church Thursday morning.

Sweet Adelines Plan For Holiday

Holiday activities were discussed at the meeting of Sweet Adelines, Inc., Friday night at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

The chorus will sing carols for the City and Osteopathic Hospitals on Dec. 21, then go to the Hancock County Children's Home to sing and give a party. Members will provide gifts and refreshments for the children.

Mrs. Bette Damaska, president, conducted business. The Heathertones Quartet represented the group in the Christmas parade Friday night.

Glenn Woods directed a practice of Christmas music. A meeting of the Executive Board followed. Next meeting is Friday.

King Again To Head Democratic Minority

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Democratic minority in the Ohio Senate will be headed again next year by Sen. Frank W. King of Toledo, re-elected at the party's caucus Friday.

The only dissenting vote was cast by Sen. John J. Corrigan of Cleveland, who nominated former minority leader Joseph W. Bartunek of Cleveland. Bartunek was prior to 1949.

Democrats will be 13 strong in the next Senate. Republicans, with 20 members, will meet next Thursday, presumably to select their veteran majority leader, Sen. C. Stanley Mechem of Nelsonville, to another term.

Church Plans Singspiration

A singspiration will be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the Wellsville Central Methodist Church, featuring choirs of the area churches.

The Wellsville Melo-Tones of 18 voices will sing several selections.

Selections will also be sung by the 23-voice all-girl Chancel Choir of the host church with Janet Birch and Karen Maylone as co-directors. Mrs. Eugene Sullivan will be at the organ and LeRoy Geisse will be song leader.

Participating choirs include Highlandtown Methodist, East Liverpool Calvary, Brian Hill, Bray's Chapel and Bethel Presbyterian.

Miss Sara Holgate, a teacher in Wellsville schools, will give two violin solos.

The Rev. Arden Beck of the Wellsville First Methodist Church will give the invocation; the Rev. William Hewitt, host pastor, of forty prayer, and the Rev. Irwin Jennings of the Calvary church, the benediction.

Robert Lewis, lay leader, will be in charge of the program.

Signup Of Junior Red Cross Slated

The 1962-63 Junior Red Cross enrollment will be held next week for students in the East Liverpool public schools, parochial school, Calcutta and Salineville schools.

Mrs. F. D. Irwin, chairman, said that in the various programs of the local chapter last year, juniors participated in water safety, first aid and home nursing classes.

Proceeds provide first aid supplies in the schools, with Miss Edna Jones, school nurse, authorized to purchase them as needed.

International interest is shown in the gift boxes which elementary pupils fill and send to children in other lands who were affected by wars or disasters.

Funds from all JRC projects are obtained only from this campaign, Mrs. Irwin said. The sign-up begins Monday.

Observances Set On Women's Day

The annual Women's Day observance will be held Sunday at the First Baptist Church in Midland.

Mrs. Mollie L. Salmon of Pittsburgh will be guest speaker at the afternoon program at 3 with Mrs. Carrie Bell McCauley, mistress of ceremonies.

Music will be provided by the Valleyaires Choral group from Coraopolis. A coffee hour will follow in the social rooms with Mrs. Lottie Green and committee in charge.

The women will be in charge of the 11 a.m. service with Mrs. Annie Clark mistress of ceremonies.

The Rev. J. M. Marbre is pastor.

Slides Of European Schools Shown Lions

Colored slides of schools in London, Paris, Amsterdam, Rome, Copenhagen and Helsinki were shown by Robert F. Beatty, city architect, at the meeting of the Lions Club Friday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

Beatty discussed the various features in the buildings and particularly cited the lack of drinking fountains, restroom facilities and little artificial light that is provided.

He was introduced by John T. Smith, first vice president and program chairman, James Johnston, president, presided.

Community Chapel Plans Revival Series

Evangelistic services will be held nightly at 7:45 Sunday through Dec. 2 at the Community Bible Chapel, at the intersection of Routes 151 and 18, in Beaver County.

William E. Liverman, dean of men at Bob Jones University, will be guest evangelist. He will present a 10-minute project lesson nightly preceding the sermon.

For Salvation Army Yule 'Kettles' Appear

The Christmas season is officially here — the Salvation Army's traditional kettles are in place in the downtown, launching the organization's annual appeal for funds for Yule welfare projects among the unfortunate.

The little tripod coin receptacles have also been placed in business places.

The Christmas appeal theme is "Sharing With Others."

Mrs. Thelma Hildebrand, a volunteer worker, is shown beside one of the kettles located at the Potters Bank & Trust Co.

Harold Allison, chairman, said the Advisory Board hopes that "everyone who can will enjoy the blessing that comes from sharing with others during the Christmas season through the Salvation Army."

Kettle and mail contributions will enable the Salvation Army provide gifts for the lonely, aged and shut-ins, give toys to hospitalized and underprivileged children, provide dinners for several hundred needy families, plan parties for various groups of adults and children and also furnish remembrances for men of the area in uniform.

Salvation Army workers first used this unique way of collecting for the needy on a San Francisco water front in 1894. Since then the soup kettle, the smiling bell ringer and the sign urging those passing by to "keep the kettle boiling" have become a familiar sight around the world.

Foreign Missions Is Topic Of Ohio View Church Group

"Our Foreign Missions Abroad" was the program topic of Mrs. James N. Servey at the thank-offering meeting of the Women of the Church of the Ohio View Lutheran Church Tuesday night.

Mrs. Servey related how the thank-offering aids other countries and there were displays of handcraft, witchcraft, apparel and figurines, furnished by Miss Mary S. Sochor, Mrs. Robert Cowan and Mrs. William Stibilo.

Foreign foods, representative of these countries, were prepared and served by Mrs. Servey and Mrs. Stibilo.

Mrs. Eleanor Wagoner opened with the topic, "Mary of Bethany's Generosity." Mrs. C. L. Defenbaugh accompanied hymn singing.

Mrs. Charles Newcomb, Christian service chairman, said 14 dozen cookies were donated to Beaver County institutions through the Lutheran Service Society. She read a letter of appreciation from the Rochester Passavant Memorial Home for pies recently donated and Mrs. Homer Paul read a letter from a former member, Mrs. Martin Sill of Tavares, Fla., which included a contribution for the church organ fund.

Sam McCune, Beaver County commissioner, will speak at the Lutheran Service Society meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in St. John's Lutheran Church in Freedom.

County hospital visitation day will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. Two Beaver County families and three servicemen from the congregation will receive gifts from the unit as a Christmas project.

Mrs. Alan Butler and Mrs. John Romisher were guests.

Mrs. Newcomb, altar care chairman for December, will be assisted by Mrs. Stibilo, Mrs. Homer Gifford, Mrs. Jack Peck and Mrs. Ed Kramer.

Mrs. Defenbaugh reported on her recent visit to the club's adopted patients at the Beaver County Home Annex.

Mrs. Robert Preston will present the program, "Christmas Customs In Other Lands," assisted by Girl Scout Troop 238, at the meeting Dec. 18 in the church hall. Mrs. Defenbaugh will lead devotions and will serve as co-hostess with Mrs. Peck. A white elephant gift exchange is planned.

Mrs. Cowan, president, presided.

Meeting Set At Salineville

The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Patrick's Catholic Church will meet Tuesday evening in the Parish Hall at Salineville.

Mrs. Kathryn Mundy, president, will conduct business and Mrs. Alma Feth and Mrs. Emma Whelan will be hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maher of High St., and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maher and family of W. Main St. were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ritter of Sebring.

Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hirst of E. Main St. were Mr. and Mrs. David Hilliard and family of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. John Hirst and family of Salem, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCord and family of Summitville.

Mrs. Emma Whelan of Jefferson St. is visiting Mrs. Bea Strabley in Tiltonsville.

Mr. and Mrs. John (Buddy) Schubert of Canton were Thanksgiving guests of Mrs. Olive Schubert of Lincoln St. and Mrs. Viola McNichol of Market St.

Miss Margaret Mary Mulhearn of Youngstown is spending a holiday vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Mulhearn, of W. Main St.

Miss Myrtle Strabley spent Thanksgiving with relatives in Salem.

Newell Ministers Elect Officers

New officers were elected by ministers of the Newell area at a meeting Wednesday in the First Church of the Nazarene. They are:

The Rev. Wilbur Beaver, president; the Rev. Ira E. Fowler, vice president; the Rev. Ralph W. Hedrick, secretary, and the Rev. Charles Haddock, treasurer.

The ministers agreed to donate $25 of the offering received at the union Thanksgiving service Wednesday night to the chaplaincy of City Hospital.

About 150 attended the holiday service at the church, with Rev. Fowler as principal speaker. Other ministers participated.

Ohio Counts 9 Killed In Car Wrecks

Traffic	9
Fire	2
Miscellaneous	2
Total	13

By The Associated Press
A rash of accidental deaths as the 102-hour holiday weekend passed the halfway mark has raised the Ohio toll and dimmed hopes that the long weekend would take fewer deaths than expected.

The low count Wednesday night and Thursday had given law enforcement and safety officials encouragement that the state might record one of its lowest holiday weekend death tolls.

Since Thanksgiving eve, traffic accidents have accounted for at least nine deaths. Fires have claimed two lives and two have been attributed to miscellaneous accidents. This raises the holiday toll to at least 13.

At the halfway mark, the holiday weekend toll was running below that of a similar four-day, but non-holiday, period counted several weeks ago for comparative purposes. During that period, 22 traffic fatalities, one death by fire and five by other causes were recorded.

The Friday fatalities:

Frank Moltz, 52, Cleveland, of burns suffered Thursday in a fire at his home.

Frank Robles, 65, and Jerald Trevino, 39, both of Edgerton, when their car struck a bridge abutment north of Edgerton.

Frank W. Kilgore, 43, Dayton, when his car smashed into a utility pole in Dayton.

John McBride, 62, Dayton, struck by a train as he walked along tracks in Dayton.

Mrs. John Gibel, 38, Middleburg Heights, of injuries suffered in a head-on collision at a curve in the Cleveland suburb of Brooklyn.

Cynthia McMaster, 2, Port Washington, Tuscarawas County, shot and killed by her 6-year-old brother with rifle he thought was unloaded.

Harry L. Faucett, 72, Canfield, when his auto and another collided at the Ohio 14-Ohio 170 intersection two miles north of East Palestine.

Cash In Fire Still Missing

Chester police still are investigating the possibility of a burglary in connection with the $12,000 fire early Friday morning at Les' Tavern, 501 Carolina Ave.

Mrs. Lester Kirschler of River Ave., wife of the owner, said the money has not turned up. Some $154 in bills and $50 in packaged nickles in a money box was missing from its hiding place.

Chester police are also investigating a breaking and entering Thursday or early Friday morning of a service station on Carolina Ave., operated by Clifton Huff of California Ave.

A glass in the window at the rear of the station was broken to gain entry. Nothing was taken but there was considerable damage to a safe.

A hammer and a punch, belonging to the station, were used in an unsuccessful attempt to open the safe.

Chief Clarence Lennens reported also that a door was unlocked and a pane of glass broken out of the rear of the garage part of a service station on Carolina Ave. near Huff's, operated by Ferman Maple. Nothing was disturbed, Lennens said. He discovered the second entry while investigating the first.

Grange Honors 5 At Summitville

SUMMITVILLE — Members belonging to the Pleasant Valley Grange for 25 and 50 years were presented pins at a meeting Tuesday evening at the Grange Hall.

ANOTHER MILESTONE ON THE OHIO. Water is flowing through this big navigation lock project of the Pike Island Super-dam under construction at Yorkville. Similar to the Stratton Dam, the twin locks of Pike Island have been virtually completed by the Dravo Corp., which built the Stratton structure. The lock chambers and walls were built inside of a cellular cofferdam covering 19 acres. At upper left in this aerial view is cofferdam for first stage of high-lift dam also being built by Dravo for the multi-million dollar project. Locks won't go into service until some time next year when the second stage is begun. Dravo built the locks under a $22,868,707 contract from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and will erect the dam proper under a $14,940,425 contract. That's West Virginia Route 2 at right.

Chinese Offer Pakistan Pact Of Non-Aggression

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP) — Communist China has offered to sign a non-aggression pact with Pakistan, informed sources said today. The offer was made in a note from Peking to President Mohammad Ayub Khan's government.

Pakistan's Foreign Minister Mohammad Ali refused to comment on the report. But he said he had received and accepted an offer from Premier Chou En-Lai to visit China at an early date.

Ali made the remark to newsmen in the lobby of Parliament House. There was no comment immediately from any other official source.

Reliable parliamentary informants said, however, that the report was correct and that the Chinese offer was not being considered by the government.

The Karachi English-language Daily Dawn carried the report prominently. It said a point of the proposed pact was an offer by China to help Pakistan "against aggression from any quarter."

It added that the Chinese had raised no objection to Pakistan remaining a member of the pro-Western CENTO and SEATO alliances if such a pact were signed.

The reported offer came during an emergency session of the Pakistani National Assembly, which has heard strong criticism of the United States and Britain, Pakistan's allies, for rushing arms to India.

Pakistan feels these arms are a threat to her. Some Pakistanis, in the disillusionment with the Western powers, have been talking of adopting neutralism as a policy.

Red China's unilateral ceasefire on the border with India and the offer of a troop pullback has bolstered the Pakistani view that the present Indian-China conflict is only a temporary flareup which merits no Western assistance to India.

In the debate today, the United States was accused of making "a local border affair" between India and China into an expanding "full-fledged global war" for its own benefit.

The accusation was made by Sardar Bahadur Khan, brother of President Ayub Khan and leader of the opposition.

He said the supplying of arms to India disregarded Pakistan's safety and security.

Khan said the Pakistan government should "change its foreign policy, become neutral and withdraw from CENTO, SEATO and other pacts immediately."

He advocated a policy of friendship with all nations—"Communist or capitalist."

Khan was supported by the government's parliamentary secretary, Abdul Hai Chaudhri and by the opposition right-wing religious leader Farid Ahmed.

Farid quoted a letter from Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai addressed to heads of Afro-Asian governments and circulated by the Chinese Embassy in Pakistan Friday night.

The letter, Farid said, made it clear that long before the border clashes between India and China started India was provoking China. The letter said China would confine her action to the border area, Farid claimed.

Farid said the Western supply of arms to India was a "gross betrayal of the friendliest nation of Asia, Pakistan."

He demanded concrete action by the government against the United States.

W. Averell Harriman, U.S. assistant secretary of state who is in India at the head of a mission surveying India's arms needs, is expected here in the next day or two to meet Ayub Khan.

Duncan Sandys, British Commonwealth secretary who also is in India, is also expected in Pakistan.

Pakistan has shown increased irritation over the American and British arms buildup of the Indian army requested by the New Delhi government to fight the Chinese Communist border invasion.

The Pakistanis are worried lest the arms eventually be turned against Pakistan by India in the long-festering Kashmir dispute.

In the eyes of Pakistanis, the India-China undeclared war is a temporary conflict that will soon blow over, while Indian-Pakistan rivalry will remain for a long time.

President Ayub Khan warned the United States Wednesday that Pakistan would quit the CENTO and SEATO alliances if it found these pacts were "of no use."

Addressing the National Assembly, he said that any supply of arms to India is a great danger to Pakistan's safety and sovereignty.

Similar sentiments were expressed by Foreign Minister Mohammad Ali to the assembly on Friday.

The United States and Britain have been working behind the scenes for an Indian-Pakistani standstill pact over Kashmir to help India beat back the Chinese invasion.

Explorer Scouts Push Plans For May Dance

Further plans were discussed for the Explorer Ball at a meeting of the Cherokee District Boy Scout Explorer Cabinet Wednesday evening at the cabin of Post 59 in Hillcrest.

The ball will be held May 10 at the Country Club. The Larry Thompson award will be presented to the outstanding Explorer. Members may take a guest couple.

Next meeting is Dec. 19. Officers will be elected in January. Jack Amato, chairman, presided.

Methodist Men Plan Irondale Fund Drive

The Methodist Men of the Irondale Methodist Church will solicit funds Thursday evening for the annual Christmas party for children of the community. The men are to meet at the church.

Mrs. Florence Bonnar is visiting her sons, M.Sgt. William Bonnar of Scott Air Force Base in Glendale, Ariz., and Kenneth Bonnar of Phoenix.

Mrs. Lydia Porter Russell of Newport News, Va., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Porter.

Ten of the victims were employees of United, although only four were on duty in the Viscount.

Born in East Liverpool Sept. 19, 1947, Miss Lawrence was flying to Atlanta, Ga., to spend the weekend with a friend who recently moved from Princeton.

Miss Lawrence attended McKinley and Westgate Schools until Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence moved to Princeton about 16 months ago. She was a student at Miss Fine's School, a preparatory school, at Princeton. She was a member of Trinity Episcopal Church at Princeton.

In addition to her father, she is survived by her mother, Mrs. Barbara Lawrence, and two sisters, Lisa Lawrence and Deborah Lawrence, and a brother, Mark Lawrence, all at home.

Funeral services will be held in Princeton tentatively on Monday at the church with the rector, the Rev. Robert Spear, officiating. Burial will be in All-Saints Episcopal Cemetery.

The family requests contributions to Miss Fine's School as tokens of respect.

Lawrence, mayor here in 1958-59, resides in Princeton but retains his business associations in East Liverpool, including the Sayre Electric Co., Globe Brick Co. and the First National Bank, and visits the city almost weekly.

Another victim of the crash with Ohio connections was Miss Margaret McCutcheon, 21, daughter of David McCutcheon, chief pilot for the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. She was a United Airlines stewardess but was not working on the fatal flight.

Death 'Accidental'

WEIRTON — A coroner's jury ruled the death of Joseph Starvaggi of Hanlin Station Tuesday night was "accidental" after conducting an inquest Friday night. Mr. Starvaggi was fatally injured after his car struck a bus on Weirton Heights. John D. Heron, Hancock County coroner, impaneled the six-man jury.

Population Following The Sun

South, West Outstripping East, Midwest In Growth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American population is still following the sun.

The sunny South and West, according to Census Bureau estimates Friday, are outstripping the East and Midwest in growth.

The states leading all the others in new residents—both by birth and migration—are California, Texas and Florida.

In the rivalry over which is the biggest state in the Union, California seems a cinch to pass New York before long. It's gaining population more than twice as fast as the Empire State.

The Bureau estimates that between the 1960 census and last July 1, California's population increased by 1,253,000 to give it a total of 16,970,000—or a rate of increase of 8 per cent.

New York's population went up 619,000 (3.7 per cent) to 17,402,000. The vast Lone Star State expanded by 537,000—a 5.6 per cent increase over its 1961 population of 9,579,677.

Corak Voting Case Slated

About 11 of the 80 cases awaiting the Beaver County Grand Jury when it convenes Monday are from the Midland area, including that of Mayor Eli Corak, who as Beaver County Democratic chairman, is charged with a violation of the election code.

The charge against Corak was filed by William Kovolenko of Aliquippa, an independent candidate for assemblyman, who claimed a political pamphlet aimed at him did not have a signature as required by law.

Corak said the absence of the signature was a printer's mistake.

John Searcy of East Liverpool faces a charge of firearms violation. Other Midland cases include Pedro Borges, charged with aggravated assault and battery; Paul Harris, fornication and bastardy; Claude Stewart, driving under a suspended license and Francis Kane, forcible entry.

Verlon L. Truitt of Bellflower, Calif., and Richard K. Pander of Beaver Falls faces charges of burglary and larceny of Mickey's Place in Industry.

Keith W. Hohenshel of Industry faces a charge of rape. Samuel F. Lignetta of Burgettsown faces a charge of lottery and Helen Cook of Burgettsown, aggravated assault and battery.

Man In City Tax Case

Herbert T. Dorsey, 946 Lisbon St., accused of two violations of the city income tax law, was taken into custody this morning by police.

Dorsey was arrested on a bench warrant issued Friday by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff when he did not appear yesterday morning for a hearing on charges of failing to file an estimate of his 1962 income before the May 15 deadline and failure to submit himself to an examination concerning his earnings.

Unable to post a $107.50 bond for his appearance Monday morning in court, Dorsey was remanded to the city jail.

Trio Of Cars Damaged In 'Chain Crash'

Three autos were damaged in a "chain" collision in the East End Friday afternoon and a bus and car were involved in a crash yesterday morning, police reported.

Two other motorists told officers their cars were damaged by hit-skip drivers.

The collision at Pennsylvania Ave. and Lee St. at 3:51 p.m. involved halted cars operated by Charles Joseph, 20, of 665 Penn Ave., Midland, and Lloyd Argabrite, 53, of 1808 Harvey Ave., and a westbound car driven by Joanne Birch, 28, of 451 Jackman St., police said.

According to police, Joseph and Argabrite had halted for the traffic light at Dewey Ave. when the woman's 1960 sedan hit Argabrite's 1962 car and drove it into the rear of the Joseph auto.

Mrs. Birch said she saw the signal change and presumed the traffic would move but discovered too late that it didn't.

The bus-car crash damaged a 1952 sedan driven by Harry Rice, 52, of 813 Sophia St., and a Continental Trailways bus operated by James W. Bryson of Pittsburgh.

Police were told both were headed south on Walnut St. and making turns onto E. 5th St. when they collided.

David A. Betteridge, 20, 803 John St., told officers his 1957 hardtop was damaged when struck by a hit-skip driver on the new ramp between Lisbon and W. 9th St.

Betteridge said he was headed north when his car was struck by the other on a curve but the driver continued south. The young driver said he turned around and gave chase, finally stopping the other car.

However, the driver refused to give any information or report to the police station, Betteridge told officers. He turned over the license number of the other car to police.

Anthony A. Klubert, 213 Center St., told officers his car was damaged when struck by a hit-skip driver while parked on E. 4th St. near Elm St. during the Christmas parade Friday night.

Klubert said he parked at 5:45 p.m. and returned at 7:05 p.m. to find the left front door of his 1960 car damaged.

Thanksgiving Day Marked

A Thanksgiving program was presented at a meeting of the Highlandtown Grange Thursday night at the Grange Hall. Thirty-three adult members and several members of the juvenile Grange attended.

Mrs. Ann Kennedy, lecturer, was in charge. The program included hymns, games and prayer. Readings were given by Mrs. Olive Withrow, Bobby Hogue, Jay Hays, Ray Hays and Mrs. Jennie Carter.

Carl Leatherberry sang a solo and clarinet solos were played by Patty Hays and Becky McPherson.

Members of the home economics committee served refreshments.

Members will meet Nov. 30 at 7 p.m. to make candy to sell. Next meeting is Dec. 13. A Christmas exchange and party will be Dec. 20.

Measure Hitting Red-Made Goods Proposed In City

The mayor of Columbus, Ga., thinks East Liverpool should enact an ordinance severely curtailing sale of products made in Iron Curtain countries.

Steve Knight, the Columbus mayor, sent a letter to Mayor Bert H. Goodballet Friday suggesting that Council here enact legislation similar to a bill passed in the Georgia city providing that any wholesale or retail businessman who sells goods made by Communist labor must first obtain a $1,000 annual municipal license.

The ordinance requires the merchant to display on his premises a sign reading "Licensed to sell Communist products," and print the same legend on his business letterheads and statements.

The ordinance defines the Iron Curtain countries as the USSR, Red China, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Poland, Hungary, Cuba, Lithuania, East Germany and Roumania.

As the letter was addressed jointly to Council and the mayor, Goodballet said he will refer it to Council for final action.

Cincinnati Officer Faces Speeding Count

CINCINNATI (AP)—Patrolman Charles Hunt, 33, a Cincinnati policeman noted for catching speeding drivers, faces a police disciplinary board on charges of speeding while off-duty.

Patrolman Glenn Myer said he halted Hunt Friday after a high speed chase on Interstate 75.

Fatality

9:30 p. m. when Harry L. Faucett, 78 N. Broad St., Canfield, drove his auto from Route 170 onto Route 14 and into the path of the tractor-trailer truck driven by Homer A. Kimble, 39, of Canton, according to the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Mr. Faucett, who was pronounced dead on arrival at Salem City Hospital, died of a crushed skull and multiple internal injuries. Kimble escaped injury.

Officers said after the initial impact, the two vehicles traveled to the opposite side of the highway where the truck rolled over, coming to a halt atop the car.

It took some time to free the body of Mr. Faucett.

Fatalities to date are 12 more than the 17 recorded for the corresponding date in 1961. The total for last year was 19.

An East Liverpool motorist was cited for a traffic violation after a two-car crash on Route 62 a half mile west of Salem Friday at 11:40 a. m.

Officers said a car driven by Ernest B. Hayes, 36, of 5th Ave., LaCroft, struck the rear of another driven by Mrs. Patricia Hahn, 33, of Alliance. The impact caused the Hahn auto to leave the highway and strike a utility pole.

Hayes was arrested for failure to stop in the assured clear distance. Officers said Mrs. Hahn was slowing to make a turn.

Her daughter, Deborah Lynn Hahn, 9, suffered a laceration of the lip and another child, Timothy Starks, 9, of Alliance, suffered a possible whiplash of the neck.

Babysitter, 16, Fatally Stabbed Following Attack

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A 16-year-old baby-sitter was fatally stabbed after she was strangled and raped, police said today. The nude body was discovered at 3:15 a.m.

The victim was Barbara Allen, who was watching the two children of Mr. and Mrs. Larry R. Smith, a boy nine months old and a 2-year-old girl.

Homicide detectives started questioning residents of the building, which has 12 apartment units. Smith found the body in his third floor apartment after returning from a trip north of Detroit with his wife. He left at 7:45 p.m. Friday night.

Coroner Harry Mignery placed the time of death at 11:30 p.m. and said the girl died of stab wounds, although she also had been strangled. She was killed by an eight-inch butcher knife in her chest.

Chester Youths Fined On Traffic Complaints

Two Chester young people pleaded guilty to traffic charges and were fined at a hearing Friday night before Chester Mayor Harry Abrams.

Miss Mary Lou Devroye, 17, of Adolphus St., was fined $25 and costs for lack of a city driver's license, $1 and costs for no state driver's license and $1 and costs for failing to have a vehicle under control.

Thomas Govey, 17, of Indiana Ave., to whom the vehicle had been loaned while his car was being repaired, was fined $5 and costs for allowing an unlicensed operator to drive his vehicle. The two, along with three other Chester girls, were treated at City Hospital for abrasions and bruises suffered in the mishap Nov. 14 when the vehicle jumped a curb and struck Chester High School.

Lists $2,828 Fees

LISBON — Richard G. Brian, county recorder, reported his department collected fees amounting to $2,828.90 during October.

The office also recorded 339 deeds and 726 instruments and

Elkton Pair Entertains 38

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stack of Elkton entertained 38 relatives and friends from Youngstown, Elkton and Girard at a Thanksgiving dinner at the Elkrun Grange Hall.

The birthday anniversaries of their grandchildren, Susan and Ben Rittiger Jr., of Elkton, also were observed.

Filmore Clark, Clyde Wolfgang and Harry Malone remain patients at the Salem City Hospital.

Miss Bonnie Apple, a sophomore at Bowling Green State University, spent the Thanksgiving holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Apple.

Mr. and Mrs. James Peters and family of Salem were holiday dinner guests of their aunts, Misses Beth, Lois and Vida Switzer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Westover of the Fairfield - Lisbon Rd. had Mrs. Dale Blazer and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Westover and son as dinner guests Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughie P. Evans Jr. and infant son, Tracy Allen, of Augusta, Ga., are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hughie Evans, of the Elkton-Lisbon Rd., and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rollin Ritchey of Salem. Evans has completed a three-year enlistment in the Army and was stationed in Georgia.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sturgeon and son and Mrs. Virginia Workman of Salem were Thursday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sturgeon.

Jailed, Fined After Pursuit

LISBON — A Lisbon man, arrested Thursday night after a 105-mile-an-hour chase, was fined and jailed at a hearing Friday night before County Judge Herbert Arfman at East Palestine.

Carl W. Rouse, 22, of 81 Morrison St., was fined $100 and costs and given a six-month jail sentence, with five months suspended, for driving while under the influence of alcohol. He also was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 10 days for driving on a suspended license. The jail terms will be served concurrently.

Rouse was driving a car owned by Joseph DeVille of R. D. 3, which had been reported stolen earlier from behind a tavern in Lisbon. When DeVille was informed Rouse was the driver, he asked that a "John Doe" warrant be dropped.

Five other area drivers were fined Friday by Judge Arfman for traffic violations. In each case, $10 of the fine was suspended. They were:

Edith Haupt of Wellsville, $15 and costs for speeding; J. T. Crawford of Lisbon, $25 and costs for reckless operation; Charles L. Gorby of Rogers, $20 and costs for driving left of center; Wayne B. Smith of New Waterford, $15 and cost for crossing a yellow line, and Richard Parrish of Lisbon, $15 and costs for driving an unsafe vehicle.

Paul Zehnder Named To Water Office Job

Replacing the original appointee who declined the post, Paul H. Zehnder, 1321 Fairmont St., has been named to the $350-a-month post of billing machine operator in the city water department office.

Zehnder, second man on a Civil Service eligibility list, was appointed by the Board of Public Utilities after William Griffith of W. 4th St. decided not to give up his post in the office at the Harker Pottery Co., Supt. Donald T. Duke said.

Zehnder, now a newsman at WOHL, will begin his duties Dec. 1. The vacancy was created by the death of Lee B. Carroll.

Southern Cal Eyes Perfect Record And National Title

Wisconsin Seeks Title, Rose Bowl

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Southern California today faces UCLA. The initial stand for University of California at Los Angeles, not Upsets Can Liquidate Anyone. But the mighty Trojans have to consider both.
Southern California, one of the few major college football teams that hasn't suffered an upset this season, has virtually secured a spot in the Rose Bowl. But a perfect record and the national championship hang in the balance in its game with old foe UCLA.
The Trojans (8-0) were ranked a two-touchdown favorite against UCLA (4-3), but there's a tradition of tremendous form reversals in the series.
Almost the same situation existed in 1959. Southern Cal was unbeaten through eight games when it faced UCLA and ranked a heavy favorite. UCLA pulled out a 10-3 upset and knocked the Trojans out of the Rose Bowl.
The bowl bid isn't in question this year. The Trojans can do no worse than tie Washington for the top spot in the Big Six, and Southern Cal has beaten Washington.
They need only official league ratification to advance to the post-season classic, presumably to face Wisconsin.
The third-ranked Badgers (7-1) take on fifth-ranked Minnesota (6-1-1), with the Big Ten title at stake. The winner is the champ. Minnesota, however, is not eligible for the Rose Bowl, since it competed there the past two seasons.

The long football weekend, the regular season final for all but a handful of teams, got under way with Texas' 13-3 Thanksgiving Day victory over Texas A&M and continued Friday night with Northwestern's 29-7 victory over Miami (Fla.).
The major bowl lineup now has Southern California and Wisconsin, each all but certain, in the Rose. Texas has clinched the host spot in the Cotton, and an announcement that Louisiana State, the No. 8 team, will accept the other place is expected after its game with winless Tulane today.
Arkansas (8-1), which plays off-beaten Texas Tech today, has accepted a position in the Sugar and is expected to meet second-ranked Mississippi (8-0), idle until next week. Alabama (8-1), also idle this week, is expected to get a place in the Orange Bowl, with Oklahoma the likely opponent.
The Sooners (6-2) lead the Big Eight race with a 5-0 record while Nebraska and Missouri are each 5-1, and still with a chance. The Sooners could virtually clinch it against Nebraska today but still have Oklahoma State to face.
Among other major games today, Dartmouth attempted to close out an unbeaten, untied season against Princeton. President Kennedy, a Harvard grad, was expected to be on hand to watch his old school in its traditional game with Yale. Dartmouth already has clinched the Ivy League title.

Wellsville Lists Potters For New Opponent In '63

Wellsville High's football schedule for 1963 has been completed, showing one new opponent—East Liverpool's Potters.
The schools will renew gridiron relations after a lapse of 11 years. They will tangle Oct. 4 at Nicholson Stadium in Wellsville. The last game was in 1952. The Potters replace New Philadelphia.
Next year's slate for the Tigers is well-balanced, with five games at home and five on the road. The Tigers will continue to participate in the Buckeye Border Conference, again playing four loop foes — Toronto, Jefferson Union, Springfield and Beaver Local.
Wellsville won the conference title this year with a 3-1 record. Coach Ken Woods' team finished 3-7 overall.
Senior fullback Leo Pearson was the leading scorer, getting six touchdowns and two conversions for 40 points. Senior halfback Alvin Thompson, last year's leader, finished with five touchdowns and a conversion for 32 points.
They were followed in order by end Andy Dash, 21 points; quarterback Jim Reed and halfback Dale Mobley, 18; quarterback Mark Leyda, 10; center Jack Cataldo and halfback Tom Sayre, 6 and end Tim Barborak, two. The Tigers scored 153 points.
Here's next year's schedule: Sept. 6, Beaver, home; Sept. 13,

Lisbon, away; Sept. 20, Toronto, away; Sept. 27, Midland, away; Oct. 4, East Liverpool, home; Oct. 11, Weirton Madonna, away; Oct. 18, Salem, home; Oct. 25, Jefferson Union, home; Nov. 1, Springfield, home, and Nov. 9, Beaver Local, away.
Wellsville finished a wee bit in the red for the season just completed, with the financial report showing a deficit of $154.58.
Total game receipts amounted to $7,827.91 and total expenditures, both paid and unpaid, were $7,982.49.
These were the receipts: Beaver guarantee, $200; Lisbon gate receipts, $1,834.15; season tickets, $29.75; Toronto gate receipts, $1,834; Midland gate receipts, $853.65; Weirton gate receipts, $981.61; Salem guarantee, $200; Jefferson Union guarantee, $300; and Beaver Local gate receipts, $1,594.75.
The expenditures included: equipment, $2,012.95; reconditioning of equipment, $1,496.75; guarantees, $1,100; officials, $516; insurance, $565; medical supplies, $215.94; transportation, $230.25; employees, $339.50; printing, $249.50; new microphone and amplifier, $156.75; police, $280; meals, $118; medical expenses, $144.50; supplies for field, $64.98; letters, $50.54; film, $52; clinic, $50; conference dues, $25; scouting, $26.30; night deposit box, $10; freight charges, $12.32 and items at Burbick's, $216.21.

Former Cager Admits Accepting $500 Bribe

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas Falentano, a former college basketball player, says he had no dealings with Jack Molinas, but testified that he accepted $500 bribe money from Joseph Green.
Green is one of the alleged co-conspirators in the basketball scandals trial of Molinas, a 30-year-old Brooklyn attorney and former Columbia and professional basketball star.
Molinas is charged with bribing Billy Reed, a former Bowling Green, Ohio, University player to dump three basketball games, and with procuring a witness to commit perjury.
Falentano, a former teammate of Reed at Bowling Green, testified Friday that he had met Molinas only once, and that the defendant had not asked him to dump games, nor had he accepted money from Molinas.
He said his only contact was with Green, who paid him $500 before a game with Michigan State Dec. 3, 1959. Michigan State won 96-67. Falentano said Green told him Bowling Green was to lose by eight or more points. Reed earlier testified that the game was one in which bribe money was offered.
Falentano said he played only three or four minutes in the game and later told Green "I wasn't interested in working any more games for him."

The trial continues Monday.
New Cumberland Football Dinner Is Set Thursday
NEW CUMBERLAND — Grid fans will bid farewell to New Cumberland High School's last football team at an annual appreciation banquet Thursday night at Swaney Memorial Library.
The Blue Raiders will join Chester and Newell next season at a new consolidated high school under construction in Pughtown.
But the Blue Raiders concluded with a flourish, winning eight, losing two this year under Coach John Kuzio.
Atty. Don Donell, assistant prosecuting attorney of Hancock County, will be guest speaker. Atty. Ed Flowers will be toastmaster. The Rev. V. W. Powell, pastor of the Methodist Church, will offer the invocation and benediction.
Jack Watson is chairman for the banquet, sponsored by the Boosters Club. The Football Mothers will prepare the food and serve.
Tom Hawkins, 6-foot-5 star of the Cincinnati Royals, does a lot of rope jumping in the summer to keep in training.

Watt, Seiter Are Lone Seniors

Lack Of Experience Big Problem At E. Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — This year's team will be centered around two seniors but neither one was a regular last year," Coach Chick McBride observed as he took a look at his East Palestine squad for the 1962-63 season an apparent rebuilding campaign.
The pair of seniors are Dave Watt and Dave Seiter. Watt, who stands 5-foot-6, will be the playmaker for the Bulldogs while Seiter, a 6-foot-1 cager who scales 225 pounds, is expected to be the workhorse on the backboards for the East Palestine five.
McBRIDE pointed to Ken Patton, a junior, who was voted the top sophomore on last year's reserve squad. He stands 5-foot-10. Mike Smotrilla, a 6-foot junior, who was the leading scorer on the reserves last season should be ready for varsity work.
As far as the fifth position goes on the starting five, a question mark still remains. McBride lists juniors Bob Dickey, Steve Hirt, Jerry Herbert, Vince Allcorn, John Moon and Chuck Ward as possibilities.
EAST Palestine is one of the first schools in the area to open the season. The Bulldogs have an opening date at East Palestine next Friday night with Canfield. The first Tri-County League test will be Dec. 14 at home against Sebring.
In McBride's first year at East Palestine in the 1960-61 season, he led the Bulldogs to a Tri-County title, the first that the school had won since 1938.

Secretary Udall, Son Work Out In Rehabilitated Gym

By W. JOYNES MACFARLAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Drop into the bright, newly rehabilitated gymnasium in the Interior Department at the right time these days and you may find Secretary Stewart L. Udall and one of his sons, 14-year-old Tommy, having a basketball workout.
Udall, 42, was an all-conference guard at the University of Arizona. The last basketball game in which he played was in the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden in March 1946.
The reconversion of the gym has been a pet project of the athletically minded secretary since he became a Cabinet member in January, 1961. But only this month was the work completed and an announcement made that the area was again available for use for its originally intended purpose.
The gym was an athletic feature of the basement of the building when it was constructed in 1937. But in 1941, in World War II days, the space was turned into a storage area for files. These were cleared out last summer.
The rehabilitation has made the gym available again for basketball, handball, table tennis, badminton, calisthenics and volleyball for both men and women.

Record 55-Game Grid Victory Chain Broken

PFLUGERVILLE, Tex., (AP)—Tiny Pflugerville was shrouded in gloom today. Its football team that set a national scholastic record for consecutive victories has finally bitten the dust.
End of the string that stretched through 55 games came Friday night as Pflugerville bowed to Holland 12-6.
Pflugerville broke the record of Abilene, Tex., which won 49 straight from 1954 to 1957.
A crowd of 7,000 saw Pflugerville, a town of 300 population, fall at last.

By The Associated Press
The Chicago Majors get a chance to make it two in a row over the Kansas City Steers in the American Basketball League tonight.
The Majors won their third game in eight decisions Friday night when they squeaked past the Steers, 91-91, after almost blowing a 20-point lead. It was the only game scheduled.

Yewic Flips 3 TD Passes, Patriots Win

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Tommy Yewic, thrust into the command post by Babe Parilli's injury, has the Boston Patriots back in the same high gear his predecessor did.
Yewic completed 12 of 17 passes for 220 yards and three touchdowns Friday night in pacing Boston to a 21-10 American Football League victory over Buffalo, Yewic.

Chester High Grid Team To Be Honored

The annual banquet honoring Chester High School's football squad will be held Saturday, Dec. 1 at 6:30 p. m. in the Masonic Temple. Guests will also include fathers and faculty members. A turkey dinner will be served by the Chester Football Mothers, sponsoring organization.
Yewic's efforts in his first start kept the Patriots (7-3-1) on the heels of first-place Houston (7-3) in the Eastern Division race.
Houston is home against San Diego on Sunday while Oakland is at Dallas, the Western Division leader.
Yewic, a former bonus catcher with the Detroit Tigers, credited his teammates, including Parilli, who suffered a broken collarbone in last week's defeat at Houston.
"Parilli helped by talking to me on the sidelines," Yewic said. "He's the one who called the first touchdown pass to Jimmy Colclough."
"It's great to know we have a guy who can fill Babe's shoes," said Colclough. "Now we know we can go all the way."
"Yewic did better than I expected him to do," said Boston coach Mike Holovak. "But nothing that kid does surprises me."

Kroll Paces Orlando Open

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Veteran Ted Kroll led a bottled field of 82 in the third round of the $35,000 Orlando Open today, closely pursued by Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Bert Weaver of Edgewater Beach, Miss., and Rex Baxter Jr. of Amarillo, Tex.
This trio trailed Kroll by only one stroke with 183's for 36 holes.
Three more players were bunched at 139 over the 6,789 Rio Pinar course.
The field was trimmed to the players with scores of 148 or better at the end of Friday's second round. Among those who fell out was the defending champion, Gary Brewer Jr., of Crystal River, Fla. He had a 74-75-149.
Kroll, who shot a 69 in the opening round, cut one more stroke from par Friday with a 68.
Finsterwald just missed tying Kroll when a putt on the last green stopped inches short. The 33-year-old pro, who has put together two 69's, has won this event twice before and the sponsor has offered a $10,000 bonus on top of the $5,300 first place money if he can do it again.
Weaver, who broke the course record with his first round 65, just couldn't get his putts to drop on Friday and wound up with a 73. Weaver has never won a tournament in six years on the circuit.
Baxter, an ex-amateur flash from the University of Houston, is another who has never won on the tour. He fired a 66.

Giants Will Gun For 9th Sunday

By The Associated Press
The last time Y. A. Tittle ran into the Washington Redskins, he peppered them with seven touchdowns passes, tying a National Football League record. He also launched the 'Skins on a dizzying downward spiral.
Now Tittle, the balding pass master, and his streaking New York Giants face the Redskins again Sunday at Washington.
A month ago, when the two teams clashed, the Redskins, a crowd of Cinderellas, had not lost a game and were the talk of the league. Now their record stands at 5-3-2, and their backs are to the wall.
The Giants (8-2), riding high on a five-game winning streak, are hurtling at full throttle toward their second straight Eastern Division title.
Besides Washington, two other clubs have mathematical hopes in the East—the Pittsburgh Steelers (6-4) and the Cleveland Browns (5-4-1). They clash in a telling struggle at Cleveland, with the loser eliminated.
Other games have Chicago (6-4) at Baltimore (5-5), San Francisco (4-6) at St. Louis (2-7-1), Dallas (4-5-1) at Philadelphia (1-8-1) and Los Angeles (1-9) at Minnesota (2-8).
Tittle, of course, is anticipating another shot at the Redskins. His passes accounted for all the New York touchdowns and 505 yards in the 49-34 victory.
But the Redskins also have something going for them in Norm Snead. He connected for four touchdown passes in the last game against the Giants. Two of them were to Bobby Mitchell, who hasn't scored since.
This is the second meeting for the Steelers and the Browns. The last time they met, Cleveland won easily, 41-14. The Steelers, however, have won their last three games. Fullback Jimmy Brown of Cleveland appears to be fully recovered from his wrist injury.

Defensive Unit Is Key To Success Of Browns

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns' defensive unit, owning the fourth best record statistically in the National Football League, has been the key to what success the Browns have had so far this year, according to Coach Paul Brown.
While much of the credit has been going to the "up-front four," the defense is a team effort, as pointed out by Mike Lucci.
Lucci, a rookie linebacker, was asked Friday what he found most difficult in his first season.
"Team defense," Lucci grinned. "I did more free-lancing in college. Pass coverage also is tougher with the pros. You just have to be in the right place at the right time."
Galen Fiss, captain of the defensive unit, calls Lucci, Sam Tidmore and Stan Sczurek three of the best rookie linebackers he's ever seen coming along at the same time. Sczurek suffered a knee injury and is out of action this season.
Lucci has qualities needed for the demanding job of linebacker in the NFL. At 6-foot-2 and 227 pounds, he is big enough, and he has agility. From Ambridge, Pa., almost in the shadows of the steel mills, Lucci is a rough performer.
Lucci spent two seasons at the University of Pittsburgh before going to Tennessee. The Browns picked him in the fifth round of the 1960 NFL draft when he still had another year of college eligibility.

Aussies Take Most Honors

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Australia's forces won most of the prizes and Seraphino Antao of Kenya defeated Canadian world record holder Harry Jerome in opening track and field events today in the British Empire games.
Competitions were staged in sweltering heat. The official temperature reached 103.7 degrees for the hottest November day here in 49 years and one official said the thermometer in the open stands shot to an amazing 147.
Antao won the 100-yard final with a clocking of 9.5 seconds while Jerome, University of Oregon student who shares the world mark at 9.2, pulled up badly at the 60-yard mark and finished last. Tom Robinson of the Bahamas was second and Australian Gary Holdsworth 3rd—both in 9.6.
Peter Snell, New Zealand's world record holder in the mile and half-mile, easily won his half-mile semifinal in 1:50.4. The final is Monday.
Percy Hobson of Australia won the high jump with a games record leap of 6 feet, 11 inches; Aussie Alf Mitchell took the javelin throw at 256 feet, 3 inches, also a games record; and Trevor Vincent of Australia won the 3,000-meter steeplechase in 8 minutes, 43.4 seconds.

Knicks Making Presence Felt In Eastern Division

By The Associated Press
It doesn't seem likely, but New York's lowly, oft-beaten Knicks are making their presence felt in the Eastern Division race in the National Basketball Association.
Thanks to New York, the Boston Celtics today are back in their accustomed spot atop the division standings. The Celtics, out of the top spot for one day, regained the lead with a 116-104 victory over Chicago Friday night. But they had to have an assist from the last-place Knicks to do it. New York obliged by dropping Syracuse, now in second place, 116-110. It was the Knicks' third straight victory and their first of the season over an Eastern team.
St. Louis and Los Angeles remained in a tie for first in the West, the Hawks bombing Detroit 121-93 and Los Angeles outlasting San Francisco 129-124.

Kennedy Plans To See Harvard-Yale Contest

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Harvard man John F. Kennedy is easing up today and going back to the campus for the big game.

It's Harvard versus Yale in the Crimson's big stadium beside the Charles River in Cambridge, Mass.

The President banned all but a minimum of business at his Hyannis Port home on the Cape Cod coast in order to fly to Boston by helicopter, take in the game, and fly back.

One bit of business reportedly on tap was the appointment of a new U.S. commissioner of education, a position that has been vacant since June.

It seemed appropriate to the day that the man reportedly having the inside track was Francis Keppel, dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

Kennedy is not only a Harvard grad but also one of the university's overseers.

Kennedy's decision to go to the Harvard-Yale game, and to the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia next Saturday, was still another indicator of the degree to which the Cuban crisis has waned.

The President did review the Cuban problem with top administration advisers Friday. And it is certain to be a key item of discussion in his next conference with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain. The temporary White House all but confirmed Friday that another Anglo-American summit session is in the making.

Kennedy has been spending a long holiday weekend at his summer place at Hyannis Port. He plans to lock it up for the winter Sunday night or Monday morning and head back to Washington.

For today, Kennedy was refurbishing old school ties.

The President, a Harvard graduate, class of '40, never made the varsity, but he played freshman football in 1936 and was on the junior varsity in his sophomore year. He did better in another intercollegiate sport at Harvard, sailing, in which he made the team.

OFF THE RECORD

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I eliminate that pet annoyance of window washing — leaving streaks and not knowing which side of the pane I must wipe again in order to remove them?

A. Make a practice of rubbing one side of the pane with vertical strokes and the other side horizontally. Then when streaks appear, you'll know instantly which side of the pane requires additional attention.

Q. Please suggest an easy and safe way to check for air or gas-line leaks around the home.

A. One very good way is to coat the suspected joints and valves with shaving cream from one of the pressurized cans on the market. Any possible leaks present will be indicated by bubbles appearing in the cream.

Q. How can I renew checked or "crazed" varnished or lacquered surfaces on furniture?

A. This can often be done simply by using a pad of fine steel wool dipped in rottenstone paste. Rub until the surface is smooth to the touch, then wipe off with a rag dipped in thinner, apply two coats of wax, and buff it down.

Q. How can I repair a thermometer in which the mercury has separated?

A. Hold the thermometer with the bulb down and tap gently. Or, tie a heavy string securely around the thermometer and swing quickly around in a circle over your head. If these two means fail, place the thermometer in a freezer where the cold will draw the top section of the mercury down to the bottom of the instrument. Remove the thermometer from the freezer as soon as the mercury "hits bottom."

Q. How can I restore the cedar odor to an old cedar chest or closet?

A. Just by a light sandpapering over the wood. In this way you open the surface of the wood and encourage it to "breathe" again.

Junior Editors Quiz on SCIENCE

QUESTION: What gives a flame its color?

ANSWER: Bob and Wanda like to go to their grandmother's house and pop corn over an old fashioned fireplace. They have been wondering why the blazing flames are yellow and orange in color. Flames are the result of "oxidation" when various materials unite with the oxygen in the air. For flame, there must be fuel, oxygen and heat. The different colors come from the different materials being burned and also are influenced by different temperatures and air pressures. For instance, you will get a faint blue flame when hydrogen unites with oxygen at a high temperature. To study yellow flames like those in the fireplace, light a candle. There's a dark area at the bottom where there's little burning going on. Above this is the brightest part of the flame. Here, particles of carbon from the wick have been raised to white heat. Above this, it's still hotter; as the carbon particles enter they become changed to carbon dioxide. This makes them less visible and changes their color to yellow or orange. Beautiful colors—pinks, violets, greens—can come from burning driftwood which has absorbed some of the chemicals present in sea water.

FOR YOU TO DO: Hold a cold china dish so the tip of the candle flame touches it for a few seconds. When you take it away there will be a smudge of black carbon. The cold plate lowered the flame's temperature at its surface so bits of still unchanged carbon stuck to it.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, Nov. 24, the 328th day of 1962. There are 37 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1903, Clyde Coleman was granted a patent for the first electric self-starter device for automobiles. It wasn't until 1911, however, that self-starters were applied commercially.

On this day:

In 1637, New Haven, Conn., was purchased from the Indians.

In 1830, the Belgian Congress voted perpetual exclusion of the House of Orange from the Belgian throne.

In 1863, the Civil War battle of Lookout Mountain was fought.

In 1929, French statesman Georges Clemenceau died.

In 1945, the U.S. Navy announced that a complete cure for cholera had been found.

Today's birthday:

Dramatist-director Garson Kanin is 50.

Thought for today: Be wise, soar not too high to fall; but stop to rise—Philip Massinger.

Inspector Rates Sewage Facility As Satisfactory

An inspection made Monday showed that the municipal sewage treatment plant's operation and maintenance are "quite satisfactory," Mayor Bert H. Goodballet was advised in a report Friday from Douglas C. Hasbrouck, district sanitary engineer of the State Health Department.

Hasbrouck said he interviewed Charles Huddleston, the plant superintendent, during the periodic inspection trip at the West End facility.

"Plant operation and maintenance appeared quite satisfactory," he said. "Operating reports have been submitted regularly."

Hasbrouck's report added: "The reports indicate removal of about 47 per cent of the biochemical oxygen demand and about 60 per cent of the solids, which is good primary treatment."

As the letter was addressed to both the mayor and Council, the mayor said the report now will be referred to Council for presentation at its next meeting Dec. 3.

Crewman Hurt As Eight Cars Of Train Derail

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — The eight rear cars of a 12-car Erie & Lackawanna passenger train left the tracks here at 4:02 a.m. today but no cars overturned. One crewman was hospitalized but no other serious injuries were reported.

Both eastbound and westbound tracks remained blocked hours after the wreck of the line's No. 2 train, en route from Chicago to Hoboken, N. J.

Two passenger coaches, a diner, a mail car, a sleeper, two baggage cars and an empty coach were derailed.

Cause of the accident was not known immediately. Brakeman Harry Stevens, 65, of Meadville, Pa. suffered cuts and a possible concussion and was listed in fair condition at Ravenna Memorial Hospital. Two passengers were treated and released from the hospital.

Ravenna police said the train was going between 55 and 60 miles an hour when the cars jumped the tracks at the Freedom Road crossing north of the city.

Christine Kaufmann: 17-Year-Old Bombshell

Christine and Tony Curtis in a scene from "Taras Bulba."

Many men, including Tony Curtis, have been captivated by her beauty—and confused by her complexity

By PEER J. OPPENHEIMER

AT 17, Christine Kaufmann already possesses the mysterious aura of a star.

The copper-haired continental beauty has been compared with Brigitte Bardot; she has been called the most important German actress since Marlene Dietrich—and she has been accused of wrecking one of Hollywood's happiest marriages, that of Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh.

Because of all this, I anticipated difficulties when I flew to Berlin to interview her while she was on location for her latest movie, "Tunnel 28." But to my surprise, she neither withdrew into a shell nor put up a front.

In a way, our first lunch together—just the two of us—taught me more about Christine than many lengthy sessions I've had with other stars.

Her choice of a restaurant was significant; it was a vegetarian place named Der Saft (The Juice). "When I was eight," she told me, "my parents and I lived in a village near Munich. Every day I went to the butcher's to watch him slaughter little animals. I hated it, but I couldn't tear myself away. As a result, I can no longer eat meat."

From the menu, Christine chose an easy-to-digest rice dish because, despite her youth, she suffers from tensions that cause migraine headaches and upset her stomach. How long has she suffered from these tensions? "Almost as long as I've worked," answered Christine, who has been a professional actress since she was seven.

I hesitated to bring up the subject of Tony Curtis, her costar in "Taras Bulba" and the man most often linked with her in the gossip columns. But Christine promptly put me at ease by saying: "I don't mind telling you I'm not in love with Tony." Then, without emotion, she gave me two reasons. Her first was a 26-year-old architectural student in Munich. "He is the kind of man I could marry," she insisted. Her second reason was that she and Tony don't have much in common. "Why, he had never even listened to Beethoven until I met him," she said.

There also is a third reason why Christine might relish keeping her independence for a while. Her French mother, Genevieve Kaufmann, is a well-meaning but domineering woman who keeps a tight rein on her. Christine has been trying to break away for some time, but her age prevents her from doing so legally.

Mrs. Kaufmann got her daughter her first movie role 10 years ago. Since then, the blue-eyed beauty has appeared in 26 German and Italian films and in one movie that has had general American distribution, "Town Without Pity."

CHRIStINE and her mother live in Rome although Christine's father cannot join them because of his duties with the German Air Force. But Mrs. Kaufmann believes Rome is advantageous for her daughter's career—and to her, nothing is more important.

Professionally, there can be little doubt what the future holds for Christine. As Kirk Douglas says: "In a couple of years they'll be comparing Brigitte and the rest of them with her."

Privately, however, Christine faces great problems. She must come to terms with her mother—and herself. And she must make decisions about her relationship with Tony Curtis, a man who doesn't let a "no" stop him, on the screen or in real-life situations.

Those Magical Medical Glues!

ILLUSTRATION BY GEORGE KUNHAMER

Amazing new adhesives have been developed which promise great health benefits in the mending of broken bones, filling of teeth cavities, and in delicate heart surgery

By FRED WARSHOFISKY

STICKY SUBSTANCES that look much like ordinary household glues may cause a revolution in medicine.

Known generally as "medical glues," they are made from a wide variety of plastic and animal bases. Some are still in the experimental stage; others have proved themselves, and medical researchers are hoping that these glues will soon be used widely for such diverse tasks as repairing broken bones, restoring hearing to deaf ears, and opening new techniques of heart surgery.

Today the most widely used of the new adhesives is a glue called Ostamer, which can bind broken bones. Like other polyurethane foaming plastics, Ostamer is still considered experimental, but it has been successfully used on more than 250 patients.

The technique is simple. An incision brings the broken bone into view. The glue is mixed at the operating table and poured directly into the break. The two pieces of bone are pressed together and the incision is closed. So fast-drying and strong is the bond that the bone can bear the patient's full weight in just a few days. No cast is needed; the bone cells continue the process of healing by simply growing together through and around the glue.

Dr. Michael Mandarino, of Philadelphia, one of the developers of Ostamer, used it to treat a 29-year-old man with an acute leg fracture. Ordinary treatment of such a major break would have kept the man on his back for weeks and in a cast for several months—with no guarantee that he would walk normally again. Dr. Mandarino had the patient on his feet in three days. By the end of the third week, the man was back on his job as a moving-van driver.

In Sydney, Australia, Dr. Bernard Block has had highly successful results with a bone glue made from a synthetic resin-adhesive material. He has found that full arm use is restored in three days, and broken legs bear full weight without crutches in four days.

Still another use for the bone glue has been uncovered by an ear specialist, Dr. Joseph Sataloff of Philadelphia. He treated a 14-year-old boy whose hearing had been impaired for nine years as a result of a complication that arose from a mastoid operation. As sometimes happens, the operation left a gap in the bony canal along which sound travels through the middle ear. By using a single drop of bone glue, Dr. Sataloff was able to bridge the gap and restore almost perfect hearing to the youth.

ALTHOUGH the use of glues in heart surgery and dentistry still is in the experimental stage, great hope is held out for them. In Oakland, Calif., Dr. Thomas J. Canty and a team of U.S. Navy researchers have developed a "tooth glue." Thus far the glue has been used solely on dogs, but if it can be used successfully on humans, it may prove to be the greatest boon to dental surgery since anesthesia. "Dental plates, bridgework, and even filling of cavities will be completely revolutionized by the use of medical glues," declares Dr. Canty.

Unlike most of the newly developed medical glues, the "tooth glue" has an animal base. It is made from the materials that comprise bone: calcium, phosphorous, and glycogen. The glue serves to hold the tooth firmly in place until natural bone grows around it to clutch it securely and permanently. In the Oakland laboratory, one dog has been using a glued-in tooth for two years. The glue set so quickly that the dog ate its dinner a few hours after the tooth was inserted.

IN AN EAST COAST laboratory, Dr. B. D. Halpern has been working on a medical glue with the tongue-twisting name of methyl alpha-cyanoacrylate. Dajac's Adhere, as it is more familiarly known, is being used experimentally in major surgery to bind severed arteries.

"One of the glue's chief advantages may be in the field of heart surgery," says Dr. Arnold Seligman of Baltimore. He and others have been experimenting with it as an adjunct to sutures in delicate heart operations. "The glue will simplify techniques that until recently have been performed by only a very few of the most skilled surgeons," Dr. Seligman said.

One such operation is the reaming out of blocked coronary veins. These blood vessels of the heart are too small to hold any but the most delicate sutures, and it requires an infinitely long time to complete the operation. But with the arterial glue, the technique is greatly simplified and its quick-setting properties allow the operation to be performed in a minimum of time. Thus arterial glues will open the door for hundreds of surgeons to perform operations once limited to a handful of specialists.

The amazing bonding qualities of these various new glues promise to make them an increasingly useful tool of medical science. Someday part of your body may be literally glued together!

- (1) To solve this initial puzzle, pick out words from the Puzzle Word List to fill the interlocking word-sections as in an ordinary crossword puzzle. Starting with either Key word, choose words that will produce the greatest Grand Total. Observe that two words interlock with the Key-word NORTHWEST and three words with the Key-word HOSPITAL. Residents of the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii are invited to enter the contest.
- (2) Use one word in each word-section and one letter in each letter square. It's optional with contestant to leave one square blank at the beginning and/or end of a word-section that is not circled. Not necessary to show individual letter values in each letter square.
- (3) All letters which join two words are scored up at triple (3 times) their regular value. All triple value letter squares have been circled.
- (4) Spell from top to bottom in vertical words and from left to right in horizontal word sections. The option of using any one word a second time is allowed.
- (5) Each letter of the alphabet is given a definite point value. Use pen or pencil but typewriters not permitted.
- (6) Show horizontal row totals each in proper rungs of ladder-like column at right, after which these 17 sub-totals, when scored-up, must be placed in "GRAND TOTAL" box.
- (7) All solutions with Grand Totals within 200 points of maximum Highest Score will qualify for the Semi-final Tiebreaker, which we will rush to each puzzler when initial entry is received, provided a donation of $3, $5, $10 or $20 accompanies the initial entry.
- (8) Extra initial charts sent FREE if self-addressed stamped airmail envelope is provided. It's entirely optional whether the puzzler starts the contest with this initial puzzle or the slightly different puzzle type we sent former puzzlers by mail on Oct. 1, 1962.
- (9) Any puzzler who previously won $1000 or more in any one or more previous Gemeroy-supervised contests or is a member of a family in which another member has won $1000, may not win more than $300 in this contest.
- (10) The puzzler submitting Highest Grand Total to the Final Tiebreaker which will follow the Semi-final Tiebreaker in due course, will be awarded $12,000.00 FIRST PRIZE. The Finalist with second highest score wins second prize of $5000.00, etc., etc. (See prize list). Should ties occur which is likely, a Run-Off Final Tiebreaker will be presented to the tying top scorers, the remaining awards (if any) will then be paid the highest scorers in the preceding puzzle.

AFTER 6 MONTHS' POOR HEALTH GEMEROY IS BACK AGAIN

Although it's less than two years since the Northwest Memorial Hospital was first opened to receive patients, the use of its facilities has grown to such an extent that the Directors must look forward to ways and means of increasing the physical plant. The Hospital is 100% non-profit, having been fully accredited by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

From our last puzzle contest which terminated in 1955, the huge number of 129,412 puzzle hobbyists, by their generous donations made it possible for us to build the present modern and outstanding Two-Million-Dollar Hospital institution. In view of the financial success we achieved in our previous Hospital Building Fund Campaigns, the Directors have completed a new agreement with G. F. GEMEROY to again supervise another Big New puzzle contest.

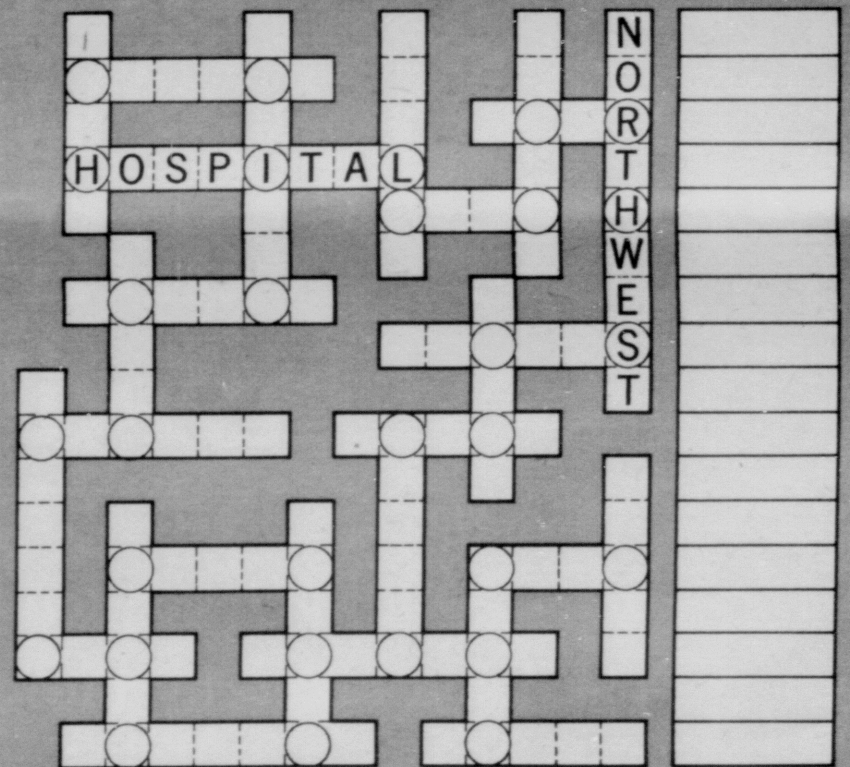

Consequently, after an absence of 6 months, due to poor health, he has arranged the puzzle plan shown here, similar in style to his many other Big Money Contests the past 16 years, which contestants say are "tops" in fun and entertainment. 300 cash awards worth $35,000.00 in this New Feature including a $12,000.00 Grand Award are now offered by the NORTHWEST MEMORIAL HOSPITAL.

If you enjoy working cross-word puzzles why not decide to give money worries a "knock-out blow" by entering this newly devised big money puzzle contest right now. FIRST PRIZE CANNOT BE LESS THAN $3,500.00, while the GRAND AWARD will be worth $12,000.00 to some fortunate puzzler.

I was just thinking...

AGE MAY BRING infirmity, loneliness, and a feeling of uselessness.

But there is a wondrous compensation, a beautiful beanstalk which flourishes with the years.

It is called remembrance.

Old people often find what others politely call the "golden years" are only tarnished with time. But the gold of their recollection is very pure.

Have you noticed that, among your oldest friends, today is mundane but an incident of 40 years past is crystal clear in their minds? A long-ago visit to a small place, an experience before most of the rest of us were alive is as perfect in their resurrection of it as though it were a gift of the present.

I believe the old have been given this total recall as a special alternative for the legs no longer limber, the eyes no longer eager. Because their todays and yesterdays are not filled with urgency, their yesteryears are returned like fallen stars reclaimed into the firmament of memory.

It is a kind of seventh sense of the senior citizen, but the effect is sometimes another matter. The impatient among us juniors call the old folks garrulous. Yet in the true charm of age, a man who was once only ordinary is wise and witty in remembrance.

Children are charming colts, adolescents a painful pride, young adults vibrant, the mature a little of everything.

But the old, with their towers of history, their skyscrapers of experience, can be a delight. A woman homely all her life may become exquisite at 80. The wrinkles of character in her face and hands are what make photographers great.

The convolutions of the brain at 80 may have smoothed out in small things, but they have deepened in the great. There is surely the right to peace in age, the earned privilege of reflection and relaxation. There is also and undeniably a certain loss of living.

But in this special quality of remembrance there is the special glory of the afterglow.

By JAMES R. KINNEY, V.M.D.

Author, with Ann Honeycutt, of "How to Raise a Dog" kiddy clique had no place for this outlander, and she, in turn, was not forceful enough to challenge them. In sheer loneliness—or was it inspiration?—she dressed her poodle in outlandish femininity and promenaded her down the street. The intrigued neighborhood youngsters flocked around the dog who, an extrovert like most poodles, charmed them right out of their haughtiness and into acceptance of the person on the other end of the leash.

I have heard of parents using a dog's fears to explain how unreasoning fear is, and I have known children who have been "gentled," to use a horseman's term, by the docility of a dog. But most interesting, I think, are the families that use their dogs to introduce young children to life itself.

THERE WAS one family, for instance, whose two eldest children were deep in the "where-did-I-come-from?" stage. The family also had a spaniel on her way to motherhood, and not by coincidence. These youngsters—8 and 9, I would guess—didn't care about the facts of life yet; they had a simple question about the curious way young creatures appeared in this world, and they wanted an answer.

Could there be a more tactful, candid teacher than their beloved spaniel? Here was an expectant mother, large but thoroughly unself-conscious, accepting each natural development as it should be accepted—naturally.

These two youngsters, with suitable running commentary from Mom and Pop, watched pregnancy, whelping, nursing, protecting. They witnessed a mother alternately tender and tough with her young—but always a mother doing her best to preserve and strengthen life. When it was over, the children's questions had been answered in the healthiest terms.

So maybe a dog for Christmas is just what your children want and need. Usually the next question a veterinarian hears is: "What kind of dog is best with children?" And the answer is: any kind treated right. Buy what appeals to your family.

Take your time buying and, as you do, plan a little ahead. Get everybody together and decide where the puppy will sleep and how he'll be fed, walked, and trained—and who will do it.

In other words, let your children benefit from everything a dog can offer. And not many gifts can offer more.

CAN A MAN build up immunity to the deadly bite of a cobra? Experts said it was impossible. But I wasn't convinced—so I decided to find out for myself.

I injected the first tiny diluted drop of cobra venom into my blood 14 years ago. In the next seven years, I gave myself more than 70 increasingly potent injections.

No one had ever tried such a thing before, and one authority warned that if I kept it up I would be dead within three years. But I continued, and I'm glad I did, for since then I have pulled through 33 cobra bites, any one of which might have been fatal.

The crucial test came last August when I was bitten by the deadliest of reptiles—the king cobra—and lived to tell about it.

As far as I can determine, I am the first person to survive the lethal strike of this "most dangerous of all wild creatures."

An ordinary cobra is four to five feet in length and can inject at least eight drops of venom in one bite. Death results within 45 minutes. But the king cobra that got me weighed more than 20 pounds. It was 14 feet in length, and it was capable of releasing no less than 30 drops of venom in a single blow.

I tangle with these deadly reptiles each Sunday afternoon at the Miami Serpentarium which I operate. My usual technique is to ease the king out of his cage with a hooked pole, keep him off balance on the hook, lay him down on the lawn, hold him at the tail, and then "fence" with him for anywhere from three to 20 minutes until I can grab him.

FROM THE MOMENT I take the king out of the cage, he's irate. He rears up to his famous striking stance, his hood spreads out in anger, and his cold, bronze, lidless eyes follow every movement I make. I watch him with equal intensity; in fact, I've been told I never blink while matching the king stare for stare, thrust for thrust.

In "fencing" with a cobra, I use the same strategy as an Indian snake charmer. He keeps the cobra busy watching the swaying of a musical instrument; I distract the snake by moving my right hand in front of him. Meanwhile, my left hand is inching up behind him so that I can grab him gently but firmly just below the head. Once I have the king, I milk him of his venom and return him to his cage.

Normally, I never allow myself to be distracted, no matter what goes on in the crowd of spectators who come to see the Sunday "show." If I should take my eyes off the king for even a fraction of a second, he may strike with unbelievable speed at the very moment my eyes shift. Until that fateful afternoon in August, I had always been able to move just far enough beyond the thrust of his fangs.

But this time the setting was different. Bob Anderson, a friend who is a professional photographer, had stationed himself a few feet to my left to get some close-up photos. I had promised him I would do nothing out of the ordinary merely for the sake of a good picture. And I had kept my promise—except perhaps at the moment when the serpent reared beautifully off the ground.

I'm not sure what happened after that. I do recall raising my right hand higher and higher, taunting the snake to rise even more dramatically. Suddenly, his eyes turned to my left hand, and I thought he was about to strike at it. But the snake's shifting stare was actually like a fencer dropping the tip of his foil to draw his opponent in—for his shift to the left was speedily countered by a move to the right.

I turned with him, swinging my right hand as far out of the way as I could. But it was too late; he hit me just above the knuckle of my right index finger.

It happened so fast that at first nobody thought I was bitten. Yet the king's strike was hard enough to yank one of his fangs almost completely out of his upper jaw. It hung by a mere thread of tissue.

As soon as I had completed my whiplash motion to the right and faced the crowd again, there were cries and gasps. My hand was bleeding profusely, gruesome evidence to my wife Clarita that the bite was a bad one. At the sight of it, she screamed hysterically—this was what she had been dreading.

I stayed calm, however; excitement only pushes venom more rapidly through the blood. Just as the king was about to strike again, I grabbed him behind the head. Then I removed the loosened fang, extracted venom from the other fang, and caged him. As I did so, he struck again, barely missing my face.

Meanwhile, my wife kept urging me to drop everything and go to the hospital. But I was confident of my immunity and felt I could take my time.

Normally, I could expect to feel a soreness in my throat within 10 seconds, then a heaviness in my eyelids, followed by weakness in the legs, shallow breathing, and creeping paralysis. But during the minutes I spent storing the venom and cleaning my instruments, I felt nothing but a slight burning sensation in the area of the bite.

After I had washed the blood from my hand, I decided to go to the hospital, if for no other reason than to prevent pandemonium at the Serpentarium. The ride turned out to be more frightening to me than the bite. My wife, who was driving, reached 80 miles an hour and made the trip in less than half the usual 20 minutes.

On the way, I was devoid of symptoms, except for a swelling around the bite. Even after we got to the hospital, I felt as if nothing would happen. Several times I hopped out of bed and did calisthenics to prove the absence of paralysis.

Suddenly, however, my wife and Bob noticed that my face had turned gray and that my lips had lost all color. Although I was still feeling fine, I told them to order the first injection of antivenin (antidote for snake bites). Luckily, just then Dr. Ben J. Sheppard arrived. He is a polio expert who has treated me often. Oddly enough, his specialty is not unrelated to snake bites. Both bulbar polio and cobra venom kill by paralyzing nerve functions and eventually shutting off breathing. I had ended up in an iron lung after one of my cobra bites.

Dr. Sheppard promptly took over and gave me my first antivenin shot. Then he checked my pulse, heart, and blood pressure. Everything was relatively normal and remained that way for the next 90 minutes.

I felt mildly elated. To anyone familiar with king cobra venom, it was something of a phenomenon. Even Dr. Sheppard was amazed, but he was more cautious than I. Several times I told him I was ready to go home, and his answer was: "Not so fast, young man." He was right.

THREE HOURS after the bite, I felt a powerful sinking feeling, as if my bed, drifting on a cloud, had dramatically plunged into a huge chasm. Then, within seconds, the sensation reversed itself and I was rising rapidly. Simultaneously, I felt my abdomen tighten—and, grimacing with pain, I called out to Dr. Sheppard.

One look at me and he jumped from his chair.

A check of my pulse, temperature, heart, and blood pressure showed they were all subnormal now. My skin was cold to the touch, and I began losing peripheral sensation in my body. My breathing grew increasingly rapid and shallow. I didn't know it then, but my heart was skipping beats, and I was in imminent danger of complete cardiac failure.

Everyone went into action. A hypodermic needle was plunged into my left leg, and to save time it was kept there, held fast by tape. Only the syringes were removed. One after another, they were filled with antivenin, then inserted into the needle in my leg and injected. At no time did I lose consciousness, and I never felt great pain; but there was a constant sensation of sinking lower and lower with each shallow breath.

It was then I asked permission to see my wife. I spoke briefly, telling her not to let Bob Anderson feel guilty. His camera work at the scene was not responsible; I had made the mistake. I also talked about what my wife should do with the Serpentarium. At this, she burst into tears and ran from the room sobbing: "Bill's dying. He's dying."

Dr. Sheppard continued checking my heart and blood pressure every few minutes. At one point, he could not get a pulse; my systolic pressure had fallen to 80 and my diastolic pressure was zero. My entire neurocirculatory system was rapidly collapsing.

At 11 o'clock that night, Dr. Sheppard was about ready to put me in an iron lung when, just as suddenly as I had "fallen" into the chasm, my blood pressure began to pick up. A half hour

What Your Dog Can Teach Your Child

THIS IS THE TIME of year parents begin thinking about Christmas presents for their youngsters. Almost inevitably some will ask: "What about a puppy?"

As a veterinarian for many years, I heartily agree that puppies make wonderful presents for children. I wonder, though, if parents really know how wonderful: if they get full value from the dog they bring into their home.

Today's dog sometimes is just another indulgence for the children. That is too bad because a dog can be a working pet—a teacher, for one thing, who will happily help you teach children about responsibilities, sharing, discipline, even the miracle of life.

There was one father, for example, who always brought his young son and daughter to my office when their puppy was taking its early inoculations. Dad merely accompanied the children; it was up to them to sit in the waiting room, calming the puppy's anxieties, and the boy had to help hold the dog while he was examined.

The father's explanation was simple: "It's their dog, and they must gradually learn the responsibilities of taking care of him." He felt, too, that a child was cheated if he knew only the affection and fun of having a dog and missed the satisfaction of helping protect the most appreciative and responsive of nature's creatures.

The pet truly became the children's dog, from the moment they shared the task of cleaning the puppy box to the exercising they gave him, full-grown, on weekend mornings. They are teen-agers now and, alas, many duties have reverted to the parents by necessity. But in the meantime two youngsters learned to accept the tedious with the pleasant and, I think, developed an especially rewarding relationship with their pet.

Parents shouldn't expect their youngsters to take over all duties connected with a dog. A child under seven or eight should do little more than feed and water his pet—and don't scold him when he forgets. If you do, the dog may become more pest than pet.

AFTER SEVEN, though, children should be encouraged to take on more important responsibilities. How? I know some parents who have taken their children to dog shows and encouraged them to read pet-care books and animal fiction. As a result, the children view new duties toward their dogs as an exciting phase of growing up rather than just an added chore.

Children certainly must take an active part in training a dog. This is a difficult task sometimes, requiring consistency, patience, and firmness. Yet most youngsters, even at 10 or 11, exhibit all these characteristics in obedience-training the dog they love.

The under-10 child should not be excluded from training sessions which you or a professional conduct. They must learn to handle their dog in all circumstances, and they should understand the why of discipline.

The younger child—himself no stranger to "do this . . . don't do that"—may view you as something of an ogre at first as you enforce your demands on a frisky young dog. It is up to you to explain that a dog needs discipline for its own sake. For the dog's safety, you teach him not to run into the street or eat anything except what the family offers him. For the dog's own acceptance in the household, he must be taught not to leap up on people.

Discipline, then, is not an arbitrary thing but a necessary part of life.

I marvel that the best-behaved dogs I treat are usually attended by the best-behaved children I meet. Certainly, credit goes to the parents, but I don't think I'm being too sentimental when I give kudos to the dog who helped make discipline seem less like adult cruelty.

Training a dog, incidentally, is great training in itself and a tremendous satisfaction. The teen-ager who receives a dog as a gift probably won't respond as much to its comic cuddling as he will to what it can do—hunt with a boy, for instance, or entertain a girl's friends.

A TEEN-AGER should be encouraged to teach his dog more than simple obedience. The dog will learn quickly and, believe me, so will the youth. A good trainer eventually learns to command without cruelty and lead without effort, and those are lessons the dog just characteristically likes to take part in.

Every dog owner has his favorite story about how his children and his dog taught one another. Sharing and shyness are ones I hear frequently. The most possessive child, jealous of brothers and sisters, will share a blanket or surreptitious bite of food with the family dog. Like many lessons, the first part is the hardest, and once a child learns that there is pleasure in sharing as well as in possessing, he begins to grow out of this stage more readily.

The case of shyness almost inevitably features a happy-go-lucky pooch so full of affection that even the withdrawn child cannot help but return love—and, most important, demonstrate it. I read recently where a psychiatrist uses a dog as sort of a bridge between himself and his young patients. The youngsters cannot unburden themselves to this awesome adult—but his dog, well, that's different.

A slightly different case concerned a shy girl whose parents had just moved into a new neighborhood. The local

REVERSE SIDE

"I AM A CHRISTIAN!" This is the message of the Gift of Peace. The enfolded hands were designed by clergymen of MANY faiths, working together for conversions. The bits of land where HE was born are priceless aids to spiritual meditation. May they bring you calm courage and "The Peace That Passes Understanding."

Quips and Quotes

Pay Load

The tailor must suffer when he sees
My lord's betrayal of needlecraft,
As cigarettes, wallet, and change and keys
Are stuffed in his pockets fore and aft.

His hatches unbattered, behold my mate
A-sag with his cargo large and small:
He looks far less like a fashion plate
Than a pool-ball smuggler making a haul!

—Georgie Starbuck Galbraith

The young bride, obviously distraught, called her mother one morning. "I baked a blueberry pie last night," she said, "and Harry didn't like it."

"What was wrong with it, dear?" asked the mother, bristling.

"I can't imagine," the bride said, "unless I put in too much bluing."

—Jim Henry

Post-Thanksgiving Wish

Just once, just once, I'd like to try
To eat a piece of pumpkin pie
That's heaped with mounds of whipping cream—

A perfect culinary dream—

Without the comments from the galleries
About the calories.

—Betty Isler

A father and his daughter were discussing the cost of living in connection with the young lady's impending marriage.

"I don't know why you're worried about us," the girl said. "Don't you believe that two can live as cheaply as one?"

"I not only believe it, I know it for a fact," the father replied. "Why, your mother and I are living as cheaply as you."

—Edward C. O'Connor

Upon Inspecting Our Refrigerator after Taking Baby Sitter Home

Although with hunger I am faint,
It's obvious our sitter ain't.

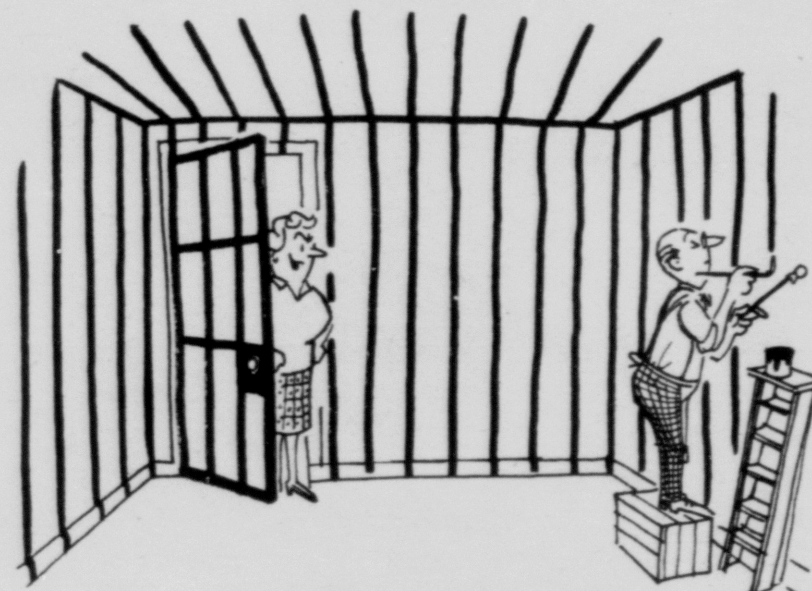

—Addison H. Hallock

A geography teacher was explaining about the zones of the world. "Now up here we have the Frigid Zone," she said, pointing at the map. "And here the Temperate Zone, and down here the Torrid Zone."

She looked at a tousle-haired boy in the back row. "Now, Johnny, which zone do you live in?"

"I live in Los Angeles 18," the boy said.

Don't blame your dentist if false teeth loosen up

Don't blame your dentist if false teeth loosen up—gums feel sore—can't eat solid food—afraid to laugh for fear plates will fall out. It's not your dentist's fault—Nature shrinks your gums. Then plates get loose—feel uncomfortable—plates go "clickety-clack"—embarrassing. What to do?

If you can't afford another set of teeth, get Snug® brand Denture Cushions—a new soft plastic that relines loose false teeth in a jiffy. You do it yourself with a pair of scissors in the privacy of your own home. Snug holds false teeth tight—grips gums like "living tissue". Always stays soft—never hardens and ruins plate—peels right out when replacement is needed. Harmless —easy to clean.

Snug eases sore gums when plates get loose and don't fit. So don't blame your dentist when gums shrink and dentures wobble. Get Snug brand Den-ture Cushions today, 2 liners for upper or lower plates. $1.50. At all druggists.
Money back if not satisfied.

Festive Steamed Puddings

Family Weekly Cookbook
MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

Steamed Suet Pudding, a perennial holiday favorite, is given a party touch with hard sauce rosettes and bright candies.

How to Steam Puddings

1. Use a mold or tin can large enough that batter will fill mold one-half to two-thirds full.
2. Lightly grease the mold and cover. If mold has no cover, use foil, parchment paper, or a double thickness of waxed paper tied on tightly.
3. Place mold on a trivet in a steamer or deep kettle with a tight-fitting cover.
4. Pour boiling water into the steamer to no more than one-half the height of the mold. Add more boiling water during the steaming period, if necessary.
5. Tightly cover steamer.
6. Keep water boiling at all times.
7. If pudding is to be stored several days before serving, unmold onto cooling rack. Let stand until cold. Wrap in aluminum foil and store in a cool place.
8. To resteam, heat pudding in a double boiler over simmering water or set foil-wrapped pudding on a trivet in steamer over a small amount of boiling water. Steam thoroughly.

Spicy Steamed Cranberry Pudding

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN.

TO STEAM: 2 HRS.

1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ cup shortening

½ cup sugar
½ cup dark molasses
2 eggs, well beaten
1 1-lb. can whole cranberry sauce, drained (reserve ½ cup sirup)

1. Blend first six ingredients together and set aside.
2. Cream shortening; add sugar gradually, beating until fluffy after each addition. Add molasses gradually, mixing until blended.
3. Add eggs in halves, beating well after each addition.
4. Alternately add dry ingredients in thirds and reserved cranberry sirup in halves, mixing until smooth after each addition. Stir in the cranberries.
5. Turn batter into a lightly greased 2-qt. mold, cover, and steam 2 hrs. Unmold and serve warm with your choice of sauce.

6 to 8 servings

Suet Pudding

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN.

TO STEAM: 3 HRS.

3 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground ginger
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground cloves

4 to 5 oz. suet, finely chopped (1 to 1¼ cups)
1 cup light molasses
1 cup milk
½ cup dark seedless raisins
1 cup nuts, chopped

1. Blend the first six ingredients together; set aside.
2. Mix suet thoroughly with the molasses and milk. Mix in the raisins and nuts. Blend in dry ingredients.
3. Turn into two greased 1-qt. molds or one 2-qt. mold. Cover and steam about 3 hrs.
4. Remove pudding from steamer and unmold onto a serving dish. Top with rosettes of Vanilla Hard Sauce and garnish with red cinnamon candies, if desired.

About 12 servings

Vanilla Hard Sauce

TO PREPARE: ABOUT 5 MIN.

(allow time for chilling)

½ cup butter
2 teaspoons vanilla extract

2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
Few grains salt
2 teaspoons cream

Cream butter and extract together. Add sugar and salt gradually, beating until fluffy after each addition. Beat in the cream. Chill until mixture is stiff enough to force through a pastry bag and tube.

About 1½ cups sauce

Lemon Sauce

TO PREPARE AND COOK: ABOUT 15 MIN.

½ cup sugar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups boiling water

3 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
2 tablespoons lemon juice

1. Mix sugar, cornstarch, and salt together in a saucepan. Add the boiling water gradually, stirring constantly. Continue to stir, bring mixture to boiling, and simmer about 5 min.
2. Remove from heat and blend in the remaining ingredients. Serve hot.

About 1½ cups sauce
